PLANS COMPLETE FOR DISTRICT CONVENTION

Blinds Woman, Age 80, Steals $260

ROBBER PUTS POWDER IN EYES OF VICTIM

Attacks Mrs. H. A. Severance
At Glendale Avenue and Lexington Drive

Blinded by a white powder which her assailant rubbed in her eyes, Mrs. H. A. Severance, 80 years of age, residing at 911 South Glendale avenue, was robbed of $260 at the corner of Glendale avenue and Lexington drive shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday night.

Mrs. Severance was on the way to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Hellman, 1005 East Lexington drive, to turn over the money to her son-in-law for safe keeping.

Screams for Help
As she passed the pile of pipe and lumber at the corner where the robbery occurred, she noticed a man, she says, leaning against the fence. Immediately after she had passed him, he jumped at her from the rear, rubbed a powder, supposed to be cement, into her eyes, and grabbing her purse, made his getaway. Her screams attracted a passing motorist, who took her to the police station, where she made a report of the affair.

She was unable to give a very good description of her assailant, but is of the opinion that he was a Mexican. Detectives searched the neighborhood and visited several camps near Glendale where Mexicans are employed, but made no arrests.

No Permanent Injury
The money had been paid to Mrs. Severance that afternoon and, afraid to keep it in her home over the week end, she had determined to give it to her son-in-law, W. H. Hellman, for safe keeping until Monday. She does not think that the robber knew she had that much money with her when he attacked her.

Her eyes, although sore, suffered no permanent effects from the powder.

STRUCK BY AUTO, SERIOUSLY HURT

Vision Is Hindered by Rain, Driver Tells Police
After Accident

Mrs. R. C. Bayles, 1119 East Broadway, was seriously injured last night on East Colorado street when she was run down by a car said to have been driven by Henry Wellend of La Crescenta, shortly after 7 o'clock.

Wellend, according to the report made to the police, was proceeding east, and was temporarily blinded by the lights of an approaching car. His windshield, he stated, was blurred by the heavy downpour of rain, and he did not notice Mrs. Bayles, who was accompanied by her husband, until almost on top of them, too late to avoid hitting her.

The sidewalk in the 1100 block on Colorado is covered with mud, and Wellend reported that Mr. and Mrs. Bayles were walking in the street.

It was reported this morning that Mrs. Bayles' chest was crushed, five ribs broken and lungs injured. She is said to be in a very serious condition, at her home, where she was removed in an ambulance following the accident.

PRISONER ENDS LIFE

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—While twenty cellmates slept near him, Niles Johnson, 47, a prisoner in the city jail, slashed his throat with a small knife during the night, and died early today.

DAMAGES AIR LOCAL ELKS CRUISER IN LANDING

Unsettled Weather Hinders Flight Northward From Prince Rupert, B. C.

PRINCE RUPERT, British Columbia, April 7.—While the air was calm, the American army round-the-world flight worked feverishly today to repair the damage to Major Frederick L. Martin's flagship Seattle, caused in landing here last evening, weather conditions turned so bad between here and Alaska that it is doubtful if a take-off for Sitka can be made for some days.

Making a landing in a snowstorm under strange conditions, and finding himself too low to rise again to clear the topography, Major Martin was forced to "pancake" his big machine to land, breaking both struts on the left-hand side of the plane, breaking the wires and cracking the wings.

Rush Repair Work
A survey showed the machine would have to be drydocked. Major Martin felt the accident very keenly, and at first declared he might have to abandon the flight.

As Major Martin was very anxious to get repairs under way, a civic reception planned for the flyers was abandoned, and all social engagements cancelled.

With Major Martin leading, three planes, piloted by Martin, Lieutenants Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson, arrived at 4:50 and made landing in that order.

Lieutenant Wade, with machine No. 3, delaying leaving Seattle one hour and twenty minutes arrived at 5:25, having made up better than half an hour on the 600-mile flight.

Leaving Seattle under lowering clouds, fine weather was encountered by the flyers a few minutes out. This continued for two hours, until well north of Vancouver. From there on dirty flying weather, with alternate snow and rain showers, with gusts of wind, was encountered. A snowstorm the flyers could hardly see through was raging when they approached here.

Methodists to Dedicate $75,000 Sunday School
MONROVIA, April 7.—Bishop A. W. Leonard yesterday dedicated the new $75,000 Sunday school plant to the Methodist church here. Pastors of the Protestant churches joined in last night's services.

Troops Hunt Slayers Of U. S. Business Men
ROME, April 7.—Albanian troops are searching the mountains along the Tirana-Scutari road today for Albanian bandits who shot and killed two American merchants, said a dispatch from Tirana. The two Americans were on their way to Jugo-Slavia, it was understood, when they were attacked from ambush.

DECORATIONS FOR SHOW PLACED

Million Dollar Display of 1924 Models to Open
Tomorrow Night

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.
Finishing touches are being put on today to the big building which will house the first joint Glendale-Eagle Rock million dollar automobile show in the R. A. McLean Motor Sales company's building at Colorado boulevard and Maywood avenue, Eagle Rock.

The show will be officially opened at 6 o'clock tomorrow night and will run for five nights, the time being from 6 to 10 nightly. The new 1924 models of twenty-two cars will be featured in the show, the first of its kind held in Eagle Rock.

The new building, which was completed only Saturday, will be tastefully decorated from front to rear and from wall to wall. The decoration is in the hands of the Allen Decorators of Los Angeles, famous throughout Southern California for their artistic work. This firm furnished the decorations for the Los Angeles Auto Show, the Anaheim Orange Show, and several other large events in Southern California.

Vases Mark Exhibits
Ornamental vases, filled with flowers, will mark the various spaces allotted to exhibitors, while the booths for the exhibition of accessories will be done in bamboo exclusively. Thirty-silk lanterns, three feet in length and eighteen inches in diameter, will add a touch of the Orient to the scene, while artistic freize and bunting tastefully draped, will be used effectively.

Twelve big flood lights, each of 1000 watts, will be distributed throughout the building. Additional light will be furnished by spot lights placed directly over each car to aid in setting off the beauty and lines of the new models.

On account of space, the exhibits will be limited to two cars each day from each dealer participating in the show.

To Rotate Models
An unusual feature in automobile shows will be the rotation of models. On one day closed models will be featured, another day will be devoted to the exhibition of roadsters and small cars, another day will see touring cars occupying the place of honor, while other exhibits will include chassis and special exhibits.

Under this system, there will be something new on exhibit every night of the show. Assurance is

MARINE ACT'S VALIDITY SUSTAINED

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Validity of the merchant marine act of 1920 was sustained today by the supreme court of the United States in an appeal for review made by the Pan-American Railroad company of a judgment decree against it for $10,107 in favor of Andrew Johnson, an employee injured in service. This judgment was confirmed in New York federal courts.

CONFIRM MURDER OF U. S. MERCHANTS

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Partial confirmation of the slaying of two American business men, George B. De Long, 14 East Fifty-second street, New York, and Robert Lewis Coleman of San Francisco, by Albanian bandits, was received today by the state department from the American consulate at Tirani. The killings were reported to have taken place near Marmuros, on the morning of April 6.

CITIZENS HUNT SLAYER OF GIRL

REDDING, Cal., April 7.—Public indignation in Shasta county ran high today as search was made for the assaulter and slayer of pretty 15-year-old Oleava Hamlin, daughter of Fred Hamlin of the Mammoth mine, near Kennet. The body of the girl was found a mile up the road from Kennet to the mine where she lived with her father, and about 110 feet down the mountain side behind a manzanita bush. A trail of blood from the road to the bush, her torn clothing, disheveled hair, battered head and bruised body indicated the desperation with which the little girl had defended her life and honor.

E. G. MORSE IS DEAD OF INJURIES

Falls Fifty Feet While Battling Fire In City
Of Los Angeles

Injuries received while fighting a fire at 1320 South Main street, Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon, proved fatal to E. G. Morse, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Morse, 541 Fairmont avenue, Glendale.

A roaring back draft caused by the deluge of water hurled Morse through a skylight to the concrete floor, fifty feet below. He received a basal fracture of the skull and died this morning at 5:20 o'clock at the receiving hospital, Los Angeles, without having regained consciousness.

Trapped by Flames
Morse, a member of truck company No. 5, in company with other firemen, ran a hose line to the front fire escape and fought their way through the smoke and fumes to the second floor. While throwing a stream of water through a window they found themselves trapped by swirl of flames that suddenly leaped from below.

As they attempted to forge their way up the fire escape, twisted and glowing from the heat, the back draft engulfed them, shattering every window in the building and hurling them to the pavement below. Injuries received by the other members of the department with Morse, although serious, were not fatal.

Glendale Residents
E. G. Morse moved from Bixbee, Ariz., to California with his parents in 1923. They established their residence in Glendale in March of that year. He had been a member of the Los Angeles fire department since February, 1923.

His brother, D. L. Morse, is a member of truck company No. 7 in Los Angeles.

In addition to his parents and brother, he is survived by two sisters, Opal and Nora, who reside with the parents in Glendale. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed, but it is understood he will be buried with full honors by the Los Angeles firemen.

USES CURLER IN TUB, IS SHOCKED

Woman Has Narrow Escape
From Death as Circuit Is Completed

A high voltage shock of electricity, passing through the body of Mrs. W. E. Stearman, 525 West Elk avenue, shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday night, led to a hurried call for the pulmotor from the fire department.

Mrs. Stearman was seated in the bath tub at her home, curling her hair with an electric curling iron, when the circuit was completed, and she was rendered helpless. Medical aid was summoned and the fire department notified. Chief A. H. Lankford and Captain R. E. Dodsword answered the call, but on arrival found that Mrs. Stearman had been revived.

Chief Lankford stated this morning that to his knowledge three persons had died recently from the practice of using electric appliances while seated in a bath tub, and regards Mrs. Stearman's escape as very fortunate.

Railroad Commission Loses Station Suit

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The California Railroad Commission lost in the supreme court of the United States today its suit to compel the Southern Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and the Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad companies to construct and use one union station or depot in Los Angeles, Cal., instead of three depots or stations.

CLUB WOMEN PREPARE TO GREET BIG CROWD OF VISITORS

Annual Convention to Be Called to Order on Tuesday Afternoon

At the sound of the gavel at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the twenty-third annual convention of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will be called to order for sessions Tuesday afternoon and night, and Wednesday and Thursday mornings, afternoons and nights in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at North Central avenue and West Lexington drive.

It will be a significant convention in the history of the district, for it will be held in the home city of the president, Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 415 Kenneth road.

Many to Attend
Honoring her, Glendale will receive over 450 club women, delegates from the 187 clubs in the district, which covers five counties and includes 31,500 federated club women.

These club women come from various parts of Los Angeles, Ventura, San Luis Obispo, Inyo and Santa Barbara counties, and, during their stay in Glendale, every effort is made by Tuesday Afternoon club women and other Glendaleans to extend to them the true hospitality for which Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," is noted.

A local committee of Tuesday Afternoon club women has been busy for weeks arranging for the reception and entertainment of the club delegates and for the convention sessions and other affairs.

Make Club History
The committee has worked in co-operation with the various officers and chairmen of the district and predictions are that the convention will be an outstanding one in the history of the district.

Late last week and today the district chairmen have spent many hours in Glendale installing interesting exhibits in the banquet room at the clubhouse, and the Tuesday Afternoon club women have been busy getting their beautiful home in readiness for the delegates.

State President
In attendance at the convention will be Mrs. John C. Urquhart, state president, and Mrs. Robert Burdette, California director for the General Federation.

During the convention one morning conference will be devoted to the Biennial of the General Federation in June in Los Angeles. Mrs. John F. Mead, vice president of the California Local Biennial board, will preside over this conference.

Thirty or more members of the Carnation Rebekah Lodge No. 257 of Glendale were accorded an enthusiastic welcome when they responded to an invitation Friday night to put on the initiatory work for the Rebekah lodge in Hollywood for a number of new members.

The Glendale visitors included the staff officers: Mrs. Margery Pease, N. G.; Mrs. Verna Borden, V. G.; Mrs. Evelyn Hall, P. N. G.; Mrs. Winnie Hartley, chaplain; Mrs. Adelaide Meyers, pianist; Degree Capt. Ertel; Mrs. Anna Deane, Mrs. Clara Fry, Mrs. Anna Esterly, Mrs. Sadie Rich, Mrs. Jessie Billingsley, Miss Gulla Darling, Miss Lucile Seimison, Mrs. Fannie Groutage, Mrs. Brannenber, Mrs. Grace Springer, the guardian angel, Mrs. May Lyons, and other members making up the motor party of thirty.

Mrs. Rosella Strothers, deputy district president, was one of the honor guests. The Glendale Rebekahs were extended a cordial invitation to meet again with the Hollywood lodge on the night of April 11, when Mrs. Rosella Strothers, deputy-district president, will pay the hosts lodge an official visit.

TIGHTEN NET ON WOMAN'S SLAYER

Capture of Wealthy Widow's Murderer Is Expected In Short Time

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—While a check was being made today by the police of 300 male friends of Mrs. Vera Stone, wealthy widow, who was brutally slain in her apartments here late Friday night, a vigil was also kept at a little house in a nearby city where the murderer was expected to visit.

A list of names of 300 men friends of the slain woman were listed in three little note books found in Mrs. Stone's apartment. Each of the men will be closely questioned, the police said. They include business men, taxi cab drivers and police officers. Several of the men have already been interrogated by the police and exonerated.

Hunt Bill Lester
One man, who is said to have told Mrs. Stone that he loved her, and who refused to join her in gay night life parties, and who told her that he would rather see her dead than living the life she chose, was sought by the investigating officers.

The police also continued today to hunt "Bill Lester," who has been closely connected with Mrs. Stone's life.

Mobilize Gun Clubs To Slay Stray Dogs

Fido, Pussy and Birdie, beware! The "gun club" will get you if you don't stay in your own yard. Mayor Spencer Robinson has received a communication from M. H. Adamson, chairman of the legislation and quarantine enforcement department, state department of agriculture, urging that special groups be organized to kill off stray dogs, cats and birds, as these pets have been proved to be particularly bad carriers of the foot and mouth disease.

The letter received by Mayor Robinson was written at the suggestion of Dr. L. M. Burt, county livestock inspector, and requests that steps be taken "to organize your local 'gun club' or groups of men in your locality, with guns, who will be prepared to get out on a moment's notice and clean up all stray dogs, cats and birds."

Now then, members of the Glendale Humane society, yours is the role of Barbara Fritchie!

Border Dope Ring Is Broken In Vice Raids

SAN DIEGO, April 7.—Vice raids over the week-end at Tia Juana at the order of V. Talamante, the mayor, are believed to have broken the back of the dope ring. It was announced today. Among the prisoners were Chinese and Americans who will be deported by order of Governor Rodriguez.

MORE TOLD ABOUT CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Expenditures by Jake Hamon In Political Circles Again Related

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Tales of the prodigal use of money where politics was concerned by the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil man and politician, were related to the Senate public lands committee today in a session devoted to digging into the campaign chests of both Republican and Democratic parties.

J. B. French of Oklahoma City, a former business associate of Hamon, told the committee the campaign of 1920 cost Hamon more than half a million dollars, $100,000 in getting himself elected Republican national committeeman, and $400,000 in carrying the state for Harding in November.

More Witnesses Wanted
Subpoenas were ordered issued today for William Miller, former attorney general of Ohio; for Frank Ketch, former administrator of the Hamon estate, and for the late oil man's widow, who later took over administration of the estate.

The search for William Boyce Thompson, former chairman of the finance committee of the Republican national committee, was ordered pressed today with renewed vigor.

U. S. Sleuths on Trail Of Navy Absconder

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Reported in northern California under the names of C. F. Martin and F. S. Reece, department of justice operatives today threw out a dragnet for the capture of Lieutenant Ervino R. Brown, Los Angeles navy paymaster, who disappeared after a shortage of $120,000 had been discovered in his accounts. Of this amount his wife, Daisy Brown, recovered and returned $75,000. It was thought possible that Brown would seek to reach a safety deposit cache in which he is reported to have secreted $30,000 of the missing funds. Police of California and Nevada are co-operating in the search.

Plan Last Rites for Ascot Crash Victim

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Earl Wilson, known as Rocky Kansas, of Houston, Texas, who was killed in the first and only race run at Ascot speedway yesterday when his car crashed into a fence rail in the second lap of the race.

Wilson was driving a Mals special when it skidded into the rail, threw him against the steering wheel, rendering him unconscious. Wilson then jumped over in the seat and was finally jerked from the car when his body was caught by a post.

Long Beach Students To Tell Frat Secrets

LONG BEACH, April 7.—Students who are members of the Phi Alpha Psi fraternity in the Polytechnic High school here will have their names, as well as the constitution of their "secret society" filed with school officials to halt efforts to expel them under the state law which prohibits such orders in public schools. Calvin Flint is spokesman for the Psi frat.

Smooth—white—washable as tile

Barreled Sunlight produces a lustrous finish that is smooth and unbroken. This even surface resists the tiny dirt and dust particles. Marks or smudges cannot sink in. Walls and woodwork coated with Barreled Sunlight can be washed clean like tile—even after years of service.

Barreled Sunlight is easy to apply. It flows readily without a brush mark. It costs less than enamel—requires fewer coats—and is guaranteed to remain white longer.

For bathroom and kitchen walls—and for woodwork everywhere—Barreled Sunlight is the ideal coating. It means cleaner, brighter rooms—and its washable finish, makes housekeeping easier.

Barreled Sunlight comes ready mixed in cans from half-pint to five-gallon size. Where white is not desired it can be readily tinted. A single coat of Barreled Sunlight is generally sufficient over a previously painted light surface. Where more than one coat is required, use Barreled Sunlight Undercoat first.

MARCH REVENUES SET NEW RECORD IN L. A. DISTRICT

Income Receipts Are Greater Than Total for Any Preceding Month

Internal revenue collections for March in Southern California were the largest for any one month in the history of the district.

March income receipts alone were greater than the total receipts of any other month since the bureau was established. In a report sent to Washington yesterday, Collector Rex B. Goodcell stated that total collections for March, 1924, were $15,181,378.78, compared with $11,845,333.77 for the corresponding month of 1923. Income tax receipts for March were $14,298,583.37, as against $10,857,729.69 for the same month of last year.

Sets Pace for Nation
That the Los Angeles district has established a nation-wide record in percentage of increase is indicated by the following comparison of the total collections of the Los Angeles district, which Collector Goodcell incorporated in his report:

March, 1919	$11,786,536.08
March, 1920	12,129,110.13
March, 1921	12,840,272.41
March, 1922	9,945,447.48
March, 1923	11,845,333.77
March, 1924	15,181,378.78

Federal Tax Cut
Collector Goodcell pointed out that the phenomenal increase in March receipts was made in the face of the fact that under the provisions of the revenue act of 1921 an annual reduction of $15,000,000 was made in federal taxes in Southern California. This reduction became effective in 1923. While collections for 1923 felt the effect of the reduction, the 1923 receipts increased. Using March receipts as a basis of calculation, the year 1924 promises to break all records in the face of the $15,000,000 handicap.

Why I Am In Glendale

One of my reasons for locating in Glendale is that, on arriving in California, I went to Long Beach first. Not wishing to criticize Long Beach, but after spending three months endeavoring to get an opportunity to figure plans, was given to understand they had enough competition. A friend there persuaded me to visit Glendale. Arriving here, a business man took me through the city. On this drive I pictured Glendale as the hub of a wheel, the spokes—Burbank, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Eagle Rock, Pasadena and Montrose, to which I would have access in my business.

The several business men I met held forth a "Come To Our City" attitude which left a favorable impression. Consequently I purchased property here and engaged in business, later being partly instrumental in locating five families here, who are also investing in Glendale.

Glendale offered me opportunities I found nowhere else.

C. of C. Secretaries Are Guests of S. P.

The Commercial Secretaries of Southern California were the guests of the Southern Pacific company on Saturday night in Los Angeles, when a reception and banquet were tendered them on board the Creole Special that left for the east yesterday with more than 100 southern California boosters on an excursion that will carry them to New York and other eastern cities.

The secretaries, among whom was E. F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, were received by officials of the road and by Barbara La Marr, official hostess for the occasion, and, after a musical program in the observation car of the train, they enjoyed the banquet in the dining car over seventy guests being present.

The place cards consisted of a large photograph of Barbara La Marr, on which the guests' names were written.

PLANS EUROPEAN TRIP FOR STUDY

Misses Chandler, Lindsay
To Sail From New York
On May 31st

Miss Sarah Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Chandler of Canada boulevard, Verdugo Woodlands and a popular member of this year's graduating class of the Glendale Union high school, expects to sail from New York May 31 for a few months' trip abroad. She will be accompanied by Miss Edith Lindsay and her mother, Mrs. M. Lindsay and Mrs. G. L. Marvin and daughters, the Misses Virginia and Alice Marvin. They will leave here May 24 for New York where they will spend three days before sailing on the steamship "Franconia."

Miss Lindsay is well known in Glendale where she has maintained a branch of her Hollywood school of dancing for the past eight seasons. She has been conducting her classes since the first of January at 130 North Orange street, and, before that time, she conducted the Glendale branch at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Will Study Abroad
Miss Chandler is one of Miss Lindsay's most talented pupils, and, during the past season, has been one of her assistants.

While abroad the young women will study in London and Paris and will also visit in Switzerland, Italy and Spain before returning home. They will make the return trip on the "Olympic" during the month of August.

Before sailing Miss Lindsay will present her pupils in their annual "Spring Recital" on May 16 at the Gamut Club theater in Los Angeles. During Miss Chandler's absence, Miss Lois Naudain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Naudain of 603 East Broadway, will have charge of the Glendale classes.

AIDS IGNORED

Juvenile unemployment centers, established in England by the co-operation of the ministries of education and labor to assist and protect school boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18, seeking work, have not been entirely successful in Middlesex, England.

The object was to enable the youths to better themselves while accepting the "dole" and they were compelled to attend classes. The "dole" is the government unemployment stipend, but many of the younger generation, especially the girls, surrendered the "dole" rather than attend classes.

EDUCATION COST IN GLENDALE IS COUNTY'S LOWEST

High School Figures Show
Three-Year Average
$163.60 Per Pupil

The average yearly maintenance cost of each pupil attending the Glendale Union High school is the lowest of any of the twenty-six high schools in Los Angeles county, says Irving H. Oliver, business manager.

His statement, he continues, is borne out by the records on file in the office of the county supervisors, which show that taxpayers in the Glendale Union High school district are paying only two-thirds of what the residents in some districts are paying.

He made his investigation in connection with the proposition of consolidating the High School Board of Trustees and the City Board of Education, so as to be in a position, he said, to talk intelligently on the economical side of the question.

Table Shows Cost

The following table gives a comparison of the maintenance cost per pupil in the four largest high school districts in Los Angeles county. The figures are compiled from the yearly report of the Board of Supervisors.

1920-21—Los Angeles	$239.41
Long Beach	$155.23
Pasadena	$253.51
Glendale	$157.08
1921-22—Los Angeles	$164.13
Long Beach	$149.51
Pasadena	$301.43
Glendale	$161.08
1922-23—Los Angeles	$158.83
Long Beach	$201.45
Pasadena	$274.55
Glendale	$172.64

Average for three years—Los Angeles, $187.45; Long Beach, $168.73; Pasadena, $276.54; Glendale, $163.60.

It will be seen by this table that, although Glendale has not always been the lowest, the average for three years is the best. It is over $100 per pupil under that of Pasadena has paid, which, taking into consideration the number of pupils attending, represents an enormous sum of money.

This amount does not represent interest on bonded indebtedness, says Mr. Oliver, but just the actual cost of maintaining the pupil in school. It covers such items as teachers' coal, books, janitor service and items of that description.

Separate Supplies

Mr. Oliver further states that his investigations took him to Santa Monica, where one board handles both the elementary and the high schools. In the same storeroom the grand jury demanded that all supplies be kept separate. He stated that the business agent there was held responsible to see that no chalk purchased for the grade schools was used in the high school, and vice versa. If the agent wanted to buy 1,000 desks for the grade schools and 1,000 for the high school, he could not combine the purchase, said Mr. Oliver, but must ask for bids on each 1,000 separately.

For these reasons and many others he thinks that the subject ought to be thoroughly investigated before any decisive action is taken.

MRS. M'PHERSON SPEAKS TONIGHT

Famous Woman Preacher to Deliver Address at Open Forum Meet

The plans for tonight's open forum meeting at the Broadway High school, when Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of the Angelus Temple of Los Angeles, will deliver an address, are all completed, according to an announcement by Secretary E. F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, this morning, and a capacity crowd is expected at the auditorium of the school at 7:30 o'clock when the meeting opens.

Secretary Sanders announces that the meeting is open to the entire public of Glendale, and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come and hear this gifted speaker.

The first half-hour will be devoted to a get-acquainted meeting, when the new and old members of the Chamber of Commerce will be welcomed by the reception committee and during which the High school orchestra, of forty pieces, will render a program of varied selections.

Theme of Address
Mrs. McPherson, who has a nationwide reputation as a pulpit orator and as a woman of remarkable personal power, will talk on "The Four Cornerstones of Civilization, which are the church, the home, the schools, and the government, and in her address she will show the part that each of these agencies plays in the upbuilding of the nation and the share each contributes to the advancement of civilization.

SENTIMENTS ARE GROWING BITTER IN ROOSTER WAR

Disturbed Citizen Desires Board of Health to Sit in the Game

"Cock-a-doodle—" zowie!" as the ax descends, is the way many irate Glendadians would like to write the last line in that unpopular drama called "Chanticleer," on which the curtain of dawn rises daily with a fanfare of barnyard bassoons and hautboys.

Or, as J. R. McCracken, of 325 McHenry street, expresses it, in a succinct communication addressed to the Rooster Editor of The Glendale Evening News:

No-Account Roosters
"Myself and wife and three small children live at the inclosed (above) address, which cost $7,000 in real U. S. money, and we are made sick of our buy every morning by the lusty no-account crowd of roosters to the north of us, east of us and south of us. What you could safely say totals 1,000 fowls, and about one-third of these are no-account roosters.

"I ask you and your paper and every member of our family in Glendale, is it fair to us, big and little, to have not only this battle-cry every morning and the flies which come with them, but the disease that the chicken dirt, piled high, makes? Let the Board of Health look it over."

"Yours for taking chickens out of Glendale city limits."
(Signed) J. R. McCracken.

Meanwhile, a myriad healthy male chickens salute the dawn seven times a week, in their wonted way, and the drive for a roosterless, crowless Glendale meets with the strenuous opposition of the proprietors thereof. The burning (roasting or frying, as you prefer) question is, should early roosters get the proverbial "I ask you and your paper and every member of our family in Glendale, is it fair to us, big and little, to have not only this battle-cry every morning and the flies which come with them, but the disease that the chicken dirt, piled high, makes? Let the Board of Health look it over."

In short, should capital punishment be meted out to egotistical chanticleers, or what? Be frank in your reply—you are among friends. Address Rooster Editor, The Glendale Evening News.

MEMBERS HOLD HOMECOMING DAY

Event at Central Avenue Church Is Marked by Three Services

"Homecoming Day" was celebrated at Central Avenue Methodist church yesterday with three interesting services.

A sermon by the pastor, Rev. Leo C. Kline, "Forty Years of Service," at the morning service was the recognition of the years since this church was organized in 1884, forty years ago. Special music by the choir under the director, Dr. Joseph Marple, and a solo by Dr. Marple, "When They Ring the Golden Bells for Me," were the special features of the service.

A very interesting service was held in the afternoon. The old organ used for so many years was moved in and the hymns and songs were sung by the "Old Timers" with the accompaniment of its familiar tones. Dr. Marple and Will Marple sang "The Glory Song," as this was a great favorite of the members in the early days.

Former Pastors Present

Of the former pastors present, Dr. W. C. Botkin, pastor of the Echo Park church, who was the pastor in 1909-1911, and Dr. V. Hunter Brink, of Pico Heights Methodist church, pastor from 1920-1923, spoke of their pastorate. Rev. F. A. Thompson, former district superintendent, who is just rounding out sixty years in the pastorate was an interesting speaker and related early history of the churches in the valley.

Robert Taylor spoke reminiscences of the early years and sang a solo, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord." C. H. Muhleman and W. W. McWhorter also spoke of the early struggles, financially and otherwise.

At the evening service the speaker was Dr. B. Dudley Snuden, pastor of the First Methodist church, South Pasadena, formerly pastor of the First Methodist church of Glendale.

clares, that the seating capacity of the High school auditorium will be taxed to the limit by the crowds who are anxious to hear Mrs. McPherson, especially since the announcement of the meeting tonight has been broadcasted by the powerful radio that has been installed at the Angelus Temple and that has a radius of thousands of miles.

Honeymoon In Frozen North

GOLD IN OCEAN WATER

Several eminent physicists and natural scientists are experimenting with a modern avenue of alchemy in that the ocean waters are being worked with to produce what gold they contain. Professor Herschel Parker, eminent physicist, and W. L. Morrison, scientist and mining engineer, are carrying on research to extract the gold from natural salt water. An ultimate cost of 10 cents per barrel of water containing 4 cents in gold is what is aimed at in a practical way.

USE OF SCHOOL TIME

To prevent overcrowding the time of students by too many extra curriculum activities, the faculty of Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Ia., has appointed certain of its members to an "events committee." This committee will consult with other members of the faculty and with representatives of the student body in an effort to bring about a proper proportion between the time spent in study and in outside campus affairs.

EXPLORER NOICE TAKES BRIDE TO ARCTIC REGIONS

Former Glendalian to Spend Honeymoon in Far-Off
Northern Island

Honeymoons to the South Sea islands are popular enough, but it remained for Harold Noice, whose parents formerly lived in Glendale, to choose an island far in the frozen wastes of the Arctic Circle for a honeymoon trip with his bride, who was Miss Frances Allison of New Jersey.

The name of their destination is King William Island, at the upper end of the Northwest Passage. Just a bit of a place it is, scarcely a dot on the crust of the globe. It will for the first time harbor a white woman when Mrs. Noice arrives.

Wrangle Expedition

Harold Noice is an explorer and scientist of note, though still a young man. It was he who last summer led the Wrangle Island rescue expedition. Mrs. Noice is a talented musician, and while her husband is studying the customs and habits of the Eskimos, she will study the primitive music and native songs of those strange people, whose national anthem is accomplished on a rude drum that forms the accompaniment for a monotonous chant, consisting only of the fundamental note and the minor third.

The extraordinary honeymooners will leave New York in a trifling sort of schooner, which is called the Frances for obvious reasons. They will ramble south along the coast and go through the Panama Canal, stopping at Los Angeles harbor and coming to Pasadena to visit Mr. Noice's father and mother. Then they will go north along Vancouver and the Canadian shore to the Behring Straits, through Coronation Gulf, passing Victoria Land, to King William Island. They plan to arrive in summer so as to get settled before the real rough weather comes along.

Busy weeks have been spent preparing for the voyage. The Frances has been completely overhauled; food and stores of all kinds have been taken aboard. Nearly 20,000 pounds of hardtack have been stored aboard to pro-

A-B GAS RANGE

Awarded gold medal at Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

The model illustrated can be seen at our Glendale Good Housekeeping Shop, who are authorized to sell it at the low price, and on the terms named here.

The Model Illustrated
All White Enamel
$66.50
Terms if desired

Appearance alone was not the only factor influencing the decision in favor of the A-B Gas Range. Equally important were rust-proof oven linings, baked white enamel finish, unusual strength and rigidity, less gas, better cooking, convenience of operation, etc.

All Ovens Are Guaranteed

The effects of vapors and intense heat play havoc with the oven of the ordinary gas range. Not so with A-B linings. The oven of this stove is lined with a patented aluminum composition, thereby making possible an indefinite guarantee that they will not burn through with many years of wear.

No Stove Polish Used

on the A-B. A damp cloth and a little soap restores instantly its original finish. The line consists of 30 patterns, some in all-white enamel, some in a combination of white and black, others in all-black enamel.

ESTABLISH SALES OFFICE FOR FIRM

Increased Business of Low Building Company Leads To New Location

In order to better handle their sales activities the Low Building company has established a sales office at the corner of Brand and Colorado. Sales work only will be handled at this new location, their other departments, architectural, estimating and accounting, remaining at their main office at 416 East Colorado.

The directors of the Low Building company have long recognized the need of a more central sales office and the establishment of sales headquarters at Brand and Colorado is the culmination of their desire to give the best service possible to their many clients.

In addition to their various activities in real estate and building operations the Low Building company are representatives in this vicinity for Pacific Ready-Cut Homes. An increasing demand for these homes is being evidenced daily and it is largely due to the needs of this branch

Democratic Club to Hold Meeting Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of the Democratic Club of Glendale will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Glendale Business school, 224 South Brand boulevard, when matters of importance will be brought up for consideration of the members. Col. Tom C. Thornton, president of the club, is anxious to see a full turnout of members, as the approaching campaign is imposing obligations on the Democrats of Glendale, he states, that must be met and decided at once.

Wrist Cut When Light Globe Is Blown Down

While walking down North Brand boulevard during the high wind Saturday noon, H. A. Mayberry, 653 West Lexington drive, was struck by a light globe blown from the Peters building. Mayberry saw the globe coming and threw up his arm to protect his head. He received severe cuts on the wrist. Dr. J. E. Eckles attended to his injuries.

U. S. C. STUDENTS ARE GUESTS AT SPANISH DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Newport Hosts
At Novel Barbecued
Repast Sunday

The picturesque old adobe at the foot of "The Green Verdugo Hills" was the scene yesterday afternoon of a delightful Spanish barbecued dinner, at which Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Newport entertained sixty-six basketball and football players, coaches and a small group of special guests from the University of Southern California.

Mr. Newport, who was at one time an ardent football player and later active in university work, has a big place in his heart for the university men and women and faculty members. So yesterday Mrs. Newport joined with him in entertaining the U. S. C. guests.

Many Guests Present
Special guests were Warren Bovard, graduate manager of U. S. C. and Mrs. Bovard; Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson and Mrs. Henderson; Coach "Let" Turner and Mrs. Turner; Chet Tolly, ex-captain of the U. S. C. football team, Captain Campbell, present leader of the Trojan gridiron warriors; Mrs. Basso of Notre Dame, France, who is in America doing research work, and James W. Foley, poet, and Mrs. Foley.

Spanish Dinner Served
A typical Spanish dinner was served, featured by delicious barbecued meat, frioles and enchiladas.

Mr. Newport presided most graciously as toastmaster during the after-dinner hour. He introduced Mr. Foley, who in his enjoyable way, entertained the company with his philosophy in prose and poetry; Warren Bovard, Coach Henderson, Coach Turner and the ex-captain and captain-elect of the football team.

DR. STEELMAN IN LARGER QUARTERS

Optometrist Moves Office
To 203 South Brand; Equipment Best

Dr. C. Stuart Steelman, optometrist, is now located in his new and attractively outfitted studio and optical laboratory at 203 South Brand boulevard, after completing nine years of eye work at 13 South Brand boulevard, where he made a record of 15,000 satisfied cases.

Dr. Steelman has taken a five-year lease on his new location, which comprises a beautiful reception room finished in mahogany, a full standard optical examining room fitted out in white enamel, and a complete lens-grinding plant.

Latest Equipment
The very latest optical instruments and equipment have been installed in his new offices. Dr. Steelman states, enabling examinations to be made easily and accurately, according to the most scientific developments. The lens-grinding plant, permitting prescriptions to be filled on the premises, adds to the certainty that patients will receive glasses correct to the minutest detail.

Dr. C. Stuart Steelman is a pioneer Glendelian as well as a leading optometrist of long standing. He came to this city from Chicago seventeen years ago and received his training in Los Angeles. His residence is at 321 West Milford street.

STUDENTS WILL GIVE OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL

Music Department, Glee Club
And Orchestra Appear In "Fire Prince"

"The Fire Prince," a two-act operetta by David Stevens and Henry Hadley, is to be presented Wednesday afternoon and Thursday night at the Broadway High school by the music department, the boys' and girls' glee clubs of seventy voices appearing under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, and the orchestra of fifty pieces, under the direction of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

Accomplishments of the Glendale Union High school music department are well known at home and abroad and the presentation of this operetta is sure to attract large crowds.

Beautiful Costumes
Elaborate costumes have been secured from one of the best costume houses and all those in any way connected with the affair are striving to make it a success. In addition to the beauty of the operetta itself, and the beautiful costumes, are the talented students who will appear in the leading parts.

The cast, as announced this morning, will include: Donald Dietrich as Grogno; Howard Elliott as Prigio, eldest son of Grogno, the leading tenor; Elmer Fitz as Alphonso and Robert Laird as Enrico, Prigio's brothers; Milo Sherrick, the wise man, tutor to the princes; Wesley Pomeroy, Don Rodrigo, Spanish ambassador to Pantouffia; Arden Ginery, Frederick, a Pantouffian officer attached to the Spanish embassy.

Many In Cast
Irvin Carver, Benson, the ambassador's English butler; Leslie Hatch, William, head page boy at the embassy; Colburn Daner, messenger from the wireless office; Gwendolyn Warner, Isadora, queen of Pantouffia; Frederica Marshall, Lady Molinda, Alice Mercer, Lady Kathleena, nieces of the king; Mildred Sooy, the duchess, honorary governess; Winifred Parker, Rosa, daughter of the Spanish ambassador; Marie Hearnshaw, Teresa, her friend; two modern maids, Katherine Guthrie and Shirley Fox.

Besides these there will be ladies and gentlemen of the court, guests of the Spanish ambassador, soldiers, pages and other servants. The scene of the first act is the garden of the summer palace at sunset. In the second act one sees the ball room at the Spanish embassy, the evening of the same day. Accompanists for the operetta will be Mary and Lucille Beach, the Wilhelmians. Koethen. Tickets for the affair are on sale at the high schools.

SUPREME NEEDS OF CHURCH TOLD

Rev. L. J. Millikan Appeals To His Congregation for Greater Faith

"The Supreme Need of the Modern Church" was the subject of the morning sermon Sunday by Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church. Talking for his text, Luke 24:29, "Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued with power from on high," he said, in part:

"To feel the force of these wonderful words one must come with faith and stand in the presence of the Lord. The Savior addressed these words to his disciples a few days after his resurrection. Naturally his death and burial had made them sad, for which he very kindly rebuked them. He realized their great need as representatives of his church was power from on high.

"The supreme need of the modern church is the same as it was then. His marvelous words caused them to later exclaim, 'Did not our hearts burn within us as he talked with us by the way?'

"At no time has the need been so great for a fire-baptized ministry as at the present, nor has the door of opportunity been so widely opened to the church. The modern church needs, and is entitled to, equipment necessary for the proper functioning of its various departments in comfort and attractiveness, and we sin against posterity when we fail to supply these needs. Consecrated and efficient officials is another need of the church.

"However, these needs, while important, are minor to the supreme need of the church, which is a 100 per cent membership on their knees praying for a baptism of power from on high. Then, and not until then, will the church accomplish her mission on earth. May we not be satisfied until we seek and find this supreme need."

At the close of the sermon three were received into the church. At this service, E. C. Millikan sang "I Know My Father Cares For Me." At the evening service the pastor spoke on "The Great Surrender," and showed that one really gains a victory when he surrenders his life to the will of Jesus Christ. "Drifting"

Radio Programs

Radio fans who have aspirations to become scenario writers will do well to listen to the lecture broadcast by KFI as part of the day's program. The lecturer will be no less an authority than Eve Unsell, scenario editor for the Principal Pictures corporation. Other features on the program for the day will include vocal and instrumental concerts, addresses, violin solos and cello music. The program follows:

KFI (Earle C. Anthony, Inc.)
5:15 to 5:45 p. m.—The Examiner—Prudence Penny, talk, "Better Kitchens"; Frederick C. Raeth, "Badger Crier," of station WIAO, Wisconsin; Eve Unsell, Principal Pictures corporation, scenario editor, talk on scenarios.
8 to 9 p. m.—The Evening Herald—Concert.
9 to 10 p. m.—The Examiner—Chamber music recital by the Davis Ladies' Trio, Jessie L. Davis, pianist; Margit Von Csepke, violinist; Leola P. Davies, cellist.

Boulder Dam Lecture And Pictures Tuesday

The next meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club will be held next Tuesday night, April 8, at the Harvard street High school at 7:30 sharp. The program is of unusual interest, dealing with one of the most important questions of the nation, the Boulder Dam project of the Colorado river and the American Canal. Motion pictures will be shown of the development of arid lands and a full explanation of the project will be given by Ralph Criswell, member of the Los Angeles city council, who has attended all the conferences, both in the southwest and in Washington. D. C. Mr. Criswell is thoroughly conversant with his subject. This program is the club's contribution to Community Service without charge. Everybody is urged to attend and bring their friends. Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president, will preside.

Bibles written in 100 different languages were issued by the American Bible society last year. It was beautifully sung by Mr. and Mrs. Philgren.

PLANS SERIES OF HEALTH LECTURES

Mrs. Northington to Speak
At Hahn's Auditorium
For Five Nights

Mrs. B. E. Northington, M. D., D. O., for over twenty years a physician, psychologist and authority on health, appears at Hahn's auditorium at 109-A North Brand boulevard, in a series of lectures on practical, productive psychology and personal efficiency commencing Thursday night, April 10, 1924, at 8 o'clock, and continuing Saturday evening, April 12, Sunday, April 13, Tuesday, April 15, and Wednesday, April 16.

Mrs. Northington has appeared on the lecture platform in many of the largest cities of this country, and brings to Glendale people a message of vital importance to every man, woman and child. Putting it into her own words, these lectures will do everyone more good than a trip to Europe. They will be an ever present help in every need throughout the coming years, she declares.

Mrs. Northington will gladly answer questions at the close of each lecture. There will be no charge for these lectures and the public is invited.

Chicks to Be Hatched In Oven of Gas Stove

Chicks hatched in the oven of the Occidental gas range will be an Easter novelty in Glendale. On Saturday, March 29, two settings of eggs were placed in the oven of an Occidental in the window of the Elwood Gas Appliance company at 227 East Broadway. Since then the Robertshaw Oven Heat Control has maintained the necessary 103 degrees of heat day and night. The chicks will be hatched the Saturday before Easter.

While one probably would not use their oven for an incubator still it is essential to know that the Robertshaw oven heat control will maintain any temperature desired from 100 degrees to 550 degrees, night and day for weeks at a time. Many people in Glendale will watch for the Occidental chicks, a decidedly new breed as these are the first over chicks.

FINAL TOUCHES FOR AUTO SHOW ARE INSTALLED

Dealers to Put 1924 Models On Floor Tuesday; Open To Glendale Public

given that persons attending every night of the show will find something novel and unusual to see.

Music for the show will be furnished nightly by the Kelly-Shrine Club band of Glendale.

Free Prizes Nightly One of the features of the show will be the free prizes given nightly. Every person, when entering the big building, will be given a ticket on which a number appears. Later in the evening duplicate tickets will be drawn for numerous prizes, consisting of automobile accessories, and on Saturday night the grand prize will be drawn. Persons attending the show any night will have a chance to secure the grand prize Saturday night.

Word has been received by those in charge of the show that several exhibitors will have factory displays, being brought to Eagle Rock at a large expenditure of money. These factory displays will generally revolve around chassis models, some of which are artistically decorated in silver and nickel plate, with provisions made for seeing all movable parts in action.

The R. A. McLean Motor Sales Company, 2100 Colorado boulevard, will feature a Chevrolet car finished in white. This is one of the large touring cars of the 1924 models, trimmed in blue.

Show Entire Line

The 1924 models of the Chevrolet car will show the entire line. Some of the new features on the 1924 model are increased braking surface with 32 inches additional, different type of oil pump, new tire rods, change in front axle, improved spring suspension, improved steering gear, and rods for all brakes instead of cables, as on the earlier models.

The Pearl Motor Company, 2254 Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, will show the 1924 model Ford. Improvements over last year's models include higher radiator, larger hood and cowling, new finished front, improved windshield, sturdy steering column, and better finish. Exhibits will be touring car, roadster, coupe, four-door sedan, Tudor sedan and trucks.

The 1924 Lincoln cars, shown by the same firm, will be seen in the following styles of bodies: Touring car, roadster, sedan, limousine, phaeton, coupe, laundrette and cabriolet. Some exclusive designs and appliances on the 1924 models are featured as the year's improvements.

Buicks On Display

Tanner & Hall, Broadway and Maple, will show the 1924 model Buicks. Outstanding features of the new models are four wheel brakes, new and more powerful valve-in-head motor, graceful lines, more comfortable riding, greater body room, and the sturdy six-cylinder engine.

The Oldsmobile, shown by C. H. Hunter, 208-10 West Broadway, will be the center of attraction for many. The 1924 models are appearing with the Fisher body, more sturdy chassis, six-cylinder L-head motor, and the new clutch.

The models will include roadster, touring car, sport model, coupe and sedan.

Thomas E. Ricketts, 420 East Colorado boulevard, Glendale, will have several new models of the Oakland cars on the floor. Advanced features for 1924 include L-head engine, six cylinders, rugged frame, silent rear axle, automatic spark control, bronze-backed bearings, four-wheel brakes, centralized controls, Duo body finish, permanent top for open models, and disc steel wheels.

More Classy Cars

The Cleveland and Chandler cars will be exhibited by the Valley Garage, Eagle Rock boulevard. Models of the Cleveland Six this year are touring, sport touring, four-door sedan, two-door sedan, coupe and touring de luxe. The Chandler car, with the famous Pike's Peak motor, has the following models for 1924: Four-passenger roadster, metropolitan sedan, royal dispatch, touring, and chummy sedan.

A jaunty model, completely equipped and having balloon tires as standard equipment, will make its bow this week when the "T-6 Special" Touring Reo will be shown by the Reo Motor Car company, 126 South Orange street. This model, which replaces the Phaeton Reo, is the first of the popular line of passenger cars on which balloon tires have been made standard. Reo has been offering balloon tires as optional or selective equipment at additional cost, on all closed cars for several months.

Mechanically the T-6 Special touring, as its name indicates, has for its power unit the time-tried and refined T-6 engine on which the Reo Motor Car company has standardized for its passenger line and its taxicab. The chassis, too, is the standard mounting for both the open and closed Reos, including such features as the double-frame seating for the engine, dual foot control, and oversized brakes. The additional 1924 models which will be described in tomorrow's issue of The News will be: Chrysler, Dodge, Essex, Franklin, Hudson, Jewett, La Fayette, Maxwell, Nash, Overland, Paige, Studebaker and Willys-Knight.

RENEW DRIVE TO PUSH BONUS BILL

Effort Made to Supplant Tax Measure Seen in Senate Today

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The soldier bonus bill, after a sleep of weeks in the Senate finance committee, crept into the limelight again today. Coincident with announcement by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, that the tax reduction bill would be ready to report to the Senate tomorrow or Wednesday, soldier bonus advocates began a renewed drive to have their bill given the right of way over the tax measure.

Assured of passage with a vote proportionate to that passed by the House, it seemed certain today the bonus would be disposed of by the Senate before the tax bill.

Prestige Feared

Even such administration leaders as Smoot and Senator Watson, Republican of Indiana, admitted they would have to allow the bonus preference because of the strength behind the drive.

Smoot predicted the measure would be ready for the Senate by the latter part of this week or the first of next.

The chief fight on the bonus in the Senate will be waged by Democrats to insert a cash provision, which, except in amounts of less than $50, was eliminated by the house.

NAVAL SHIPS IN TROUBLE AT SEA

Submarine and Tender Head For Port as Engines Develop Defects

NORFOLK, Va., April 7.—The United States submarine tender Falcon and the submarine S-50, en route from Guantanamo, Cuba, to New London, Conn., were reported in distress today and proceeding slowly toward Norfolk, 250 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

The mine sweeper Owl put to sea at midnight and is proceeding to the scene to serve as convoy for the two vessels. Their engines were reported as "unreliable" but they are moving under their own power.

The sea is comparatively calm all along the coast and no fear is expressed for the safety of the 90 men on the two crafts.

Road Must Maintain Branch Line Service

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The application of the Northern Pacific railroad for permission to abandon its Red Mountain and Marysville branches in Montana was denied today by the interstate commerce commission on the ground that abandonment of these lines would deprive Rimini and Marysville of railroad facilities, and would probably result in the abandonment of those two mining districts with loss of investments made there.

HOODED KNIGHTS TO BE ARRAIGNED

Twenty-four Klansmen Will Face Murder, Riot Charges Over Fatal Fight

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 7.—The twenty-four Klansmen held in jail here since they returned from fatal rioting at Lilly, Pa., on Saturday night will go before an alderman today to be formally charged with rioting and murder.

according to announcement by D. P. Weimer, district attorney. The men have been held incommunicado since their incarceration on Saturday night, despite several attempts to have them released on bonds.

Feeling Runs High Over Lilly Battle

LILLY, Pa., April 7.—The situation in this city was tense today after the rioting between citizens and Ku Klux Klansmen late Saturday night, when two persons were killed and fifteen wounded. Three of the wounded, including a 9-year-old boy, are in a serious condition in a hospital at Altoona, Pa. State police are patrolling the street here, while twenty-four Klansmen are being held in jail.

EAGLE ROCK INCLUDE SCHOOL FUNDS IN ISSUE

Expenditure of $1,000,000
Assured for Buildings
If Bonds Carry

An expenditure of $1,000,000 for Eagle Rock's school system is one of the items on the $34,000,000 bond issue which will be voted on at the Los Angeles election of June 3, according to Harry M. Shafer, superintendent of schools in the northeastern section of the city.

The program includes new grammar school buildings on the San Rafael, Dahlia Heights and Eagle Rock grounds, and in addition a standard high school. While not so wealthy as some other districts in cash of the realm, Eagle Rock is rich in children. Mr. Shafer pointed out, and these children must be adequately cared for, which is not the case at present.

Registration for this election will close May 2. The history of Eagle Rock voting shows that the district has upheld every bond issue proposed for the enlargement of the school system and it is firmly believed by local educators and parents that the community will poll a large majority for the improvement.

Big Auto Show
Eagle Rock motor dealers are "doling up" for the first local Automobile Show, April 8 to 12, inclusive, from 6 until 10 o'clock nightly. In addition to the seven Eagle Rock dealers, numerous companies from Glendale, Burbank and Los Angeles have taken concessions and will bring the elite of Southern California's motor industry to this community for the big event.

In addition to the backing received from various automobile agencies, the show is endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce of Eagle Rock and also by the Realty Board and Kiwanis club, as well as by the Automobile association of Glendale.

Excellent music will be furnished by a Los Angeles orchestra and the public is invited to come and spend as much time as it finds possible in becoming acquainted with the 1924 models. There will be no admission charges.

George M. Beck is to officiate as manager of the show and has exerted every means to have as many makes of cars as possible represented. The use of the R. A. McLean building at Colorado boulevard and Maywood avenue has been donated by Mr. McLean.

Dealers are expecting to receive visitors at this event from many cities of Southern California. Each dealer is to be allowed a 20-foot front for displaying his cars. The whole room which measures 65x125 feet, is decorated most attractively, according to the directions of Mr. Beck.

'LIGHTNIN'' PACKS L. A. PLAY HOUSE

Enters Fourth Week of Its Record-Breaking Run
At The Biltmore

"Lightnin'" the famous stage classic which has taken almost six years to reach Los Angeles, has achieved a sensational hit at the Biltmore theater, where it is now in its fourth record-breaking week. California theatergoers have taken "Lightnin'" Bill Jones to their heart and the Biltmore has been packed to absolute capacity at every performance.

Players from all over the world have witnessed "Lightnin'" and some have been known to return as many as twenty times to see it over again. In fact, aside from the sentimental interest the piece holds for Californians, it has reached that point in its career where thousands of theatergoers go to see it out of curiosity; to find out for themselves, if possible, just what subtle twist it possesses to enable it not only to break every known record in the history of the theater, but to set a stage precedent for long runs and popularity that will go down in dramatic history as one of the most remarkable achievements the theater has ever known.

Pollock Is Star
Percy Pollock has duplicated out here his Boston and Philadelphia success in the title role. As "Lightnin'" Bill Jones he gives a splendid portrayal of the easy-going ne'er-do-well, fond of his glass and his story, but also fond of his family. It is a character that would have delighted the soul of Jefferson, and it is mainly due to his quaint and lovable qualities that "Lightnin'" owes its tremendous vogue.

Thirteen of the original players during the mammoth run of "Lightnin'" in New York, are still appearing in the roles they created. This includes Jane Oaker, Janson Roberts, Jessie Pringle, Paul Stanton, Thomas MacLarnie, Sam Coit, Anne Merrick, Margaret Campbell, Minnie Palmer, Percy Winter, John Hamilton, William F. Granger, May Duryea and James C. Lane.

BURBANK ROAD MEN WATCH NEW PAVEMENTS

Unusual Process Employed
In Laying Roadway on Central Avenue

The paving of Central avenue from San Fernando boulevard to the southwestern city limits, a distance of three and a half miles, is being watched with interest by roadmen, as a new process is being employed, as far as Burbank is concerned. The paving consists of a 3 1/2-inch Warrenite base, with a 1 1/2-inch National finish.

The base is prepared at a plant located at Lankershim and is applied while hot. The top coating is prepared at the National plant located near the Southern Pacific tracks on Laurel avenue, and is likewise applied while hot. The laying of the base and the top coating are two distinct items and follow different processes.

Other Road Work
Bids have been received for the paving of Third and Seventh streets, and petitions have been received for the improvement of Linden avenue and Lake street, and for curbs and sidewalks for a tract now being improved by Jollie & Rennie.

The request for the improvement of Lake street has to do with that part of the street lying between Verdugo avenue and the eastern city limits. The petition was signed by J. E. Thrasher and 19 other property owners in that locality.

The petition for the improvement of Linden avenue from Lake to Crescent streets was signed by John A. Cole and a number of other property owners living on that street.

The petitions for these two streets were referred to the city engineer with instructions to prepare the grades, while that of the Jollie & Rennie tract was referred to the engineer for consideration and recommendation.

Seek Further Counsel
Not satisfied with the opinion handed down by City Attorney E. E. Kirk that it is illegal for a municipality to acquire a tract of land for industrial sites, the Burbank Realty board has appointed a committee comprising Messrs. Lind, Overton and Dr. Crause, to consult another attorney, with the hope of getting a different opinion.

This action was taken after Charles B. Wood had intimated that other lawyers differed with Mr. Kirk on the matter. It was the consensus of opinion that if the city attorney were proved wrong, the advocates of the proposition would press their case before the City Trustees, to the extent if necessary of letting the matter influence them in the forthcoming municipal elections, when certain Trustees are up for re-election.

BUYERS FLOCK TO NEW SILK STORE

Business Moved to Glendale
After Long Time Spent In Los Angeles

Exceptionally good business was enjoyed by The Silk Store, 108 South Brand boulevard, on its opening day, Saturday, April 5, according to William T. Ward, proprietor.

The new store, which carries silks exclusively, came to Glendale after successfully completing a fifteen-year lease at 521 South Broadway, Los Angeles. Mr. Ward states that the stock carried comprises hosiery, underwear and silk yardage, purchased in large quantities, direct from the mills, and sold at attractive figures. Only the highest grades of goods are carried.

Fixtures Bought Here
Mr. Ward is a booster for Glendale and in outfitting his store spent his money in this city. He states that he selected Glendale, after looking over the entire southern part of the state, as the one place most likely to yield him a large volume of business.

The Silk Store has earned the reputation during its fifteen years of business in Los Angeles of carrying the most extensive line of silks in the Southwest.

William T. Ward has been engaged in business in and around Los Angeles for a quarter of a century. He came originally from New Jersey, where he was a manufacturer of crepe de chine.

Emergency food for cattle in New Mexico is found in the chopped up stalks of some varieties of yuccas.

Doheny Is Excused Indefinitely From Senate Oil Probe

WASHINGTON, April 5.—E. L. Doheny, lessee of Elk Hills naval reserve, who was subpoenaed to appear before the Senate public lands committee next week, has been excused indefinitely, Senator Spencer, Republican, of Missouri, announced today.

Postponement of Doheny's appearance was granted when he notified Spencer that pressing business interests would make it impossible for him to appear next week.

COMMENT That's All

Oh You Mr. Hatfield!
Rain Comes In Handy
Additional News Service
Unite To Advertise City

By Gil A. Cowan

Come now, Mr. Weather Man and alibi yourself. The dish you served Southern California yesterday was as "unusual" as they say. Thunder and lightning such as is seldom seen crashed and flashed and my, how it did rain.

Yesterday the streets were rivers for five or six hours and it was all too evident that the southland needs all the flood control it can get, for not only was valuable water wasted, but a good deal of damage was done by the flooding of city streets.

Verdugo road, for instance, is made impassable every time it rains. The city officials should take a little sterner attitude toward those who build their streets so as to wash away principal highways. Also, the expense of cleaning up the muck would soon pay the price of a channel for the water.

No doubt our Mr. Hatfield will take credit for this rain. And if he does will he not buy the writer a new hat?

The rain came in handy, however, on two scores. First of all, it extinguished a smoldering blaze in the Sierra Madre back of Monrovia. Also, it will have a tendency to minimize the danger of the hoof and mouth disease spreading.

While we have briefly commented on the subject, the malady is one to be feared, although there is no danger to humans. From an economic standpoint there is danger that all California products will be denied admittance to other states until the "scare" is over. But, as far as getting most of our food, the local, county and state health departments assure the public everything is properly inspected and absolutely no harm will befall humans.

Every effort should be made by motorists and others to comply with quarantine regulations and in this manner do their part to keep the plague as one would any other contagious disease.

For our friends' information the writer of this column now is conducting the downtown Los Angeles news bureau for this newspaper. The Glendale Evening News will be in a position to give you the very latest Southland news, as well as additional pictorial and news features of general interest.

At the same time, our connection with The Glendale Evening News is retained and a close personal touch with the problems of "the fastest growing city" will be maintained. We will appreciate the same courtesy and contact as has been our pleasure for eleven years in Glendale.

One of the biggest problems confronting Glendale is the matter of advertising in this city. The Glendale Evening News certainly has done its share, but the time has come when all must unite on a program of publicity to put this city more before the world.

People who send this newspaper to their friends in the east are rendering a service to Glendale, in that they are giving the daily chronology of facts to those who are interested in living in the southland.

Merchants who advertise in The Glendale Evening News also are playing a part in building business. This newspaper, with the early completion of its enlarged plant, will do more and more along every line and your co-operation and support needs be enlisted—yes, drafted at times.

Building all over Southern California is going ahead apace. The reports for the month of March were most encouraging. With three millions already on the construction record of Glendale for 1924 let us roll up another record.

Homes, apartment houses and hotels are needed. Build, build, BUILD.

Glendale is hostess this week to the district federation of women's clubs. Homes should be thrown open to the visitors and the cordial hand of friendship extended on every side.

In recent years the club life of the country has done much to bring the fair sex to the fore in the world's work and it has been their efforts that have paved the way for the reforms, obtained equal suffrage both in the state and nation, and gradually placed themselves on a plane higher than the men, if you will pardon this statement.

Yet one cannot deny but that the women, at least a larger percentage of them than men, take a real interest in civic and political affairs and are exerting their influence to make this a better world in which to live.

An example of their enterprise is the beautiful Tuesday Afternoon clubhouses here, where the conclave is being held. Would that there were more such institutions, for that is what the building has become.

Again, we speak words of praise and extend the heartiest welcome to the gathering throng.

PUT YOUR LAWN IN NOW!

Lawns put in now after the rain will be 100 per cent better lawns. For the next few days we will put in your lawn at one-half cost—1c per square foot, using our evergreen seed. This seed makes old lawns like new.

Fire-Fighting Units
HOLLYWOOD, April 7.—Organization of subdivision and road building crews in the Hollywood hills into efficient fire-fighting units is the plan of Fire Chief R. J. Scott, who will act on the suggestion of S. H. Woodruff to this effect. Under such a scheme fully 1000 men are expected to be formed into units and placed at the service of the city fire department in emergencies.

Chief Scott declares that the most efficient way to prevent fire is to fight it, and announces that machinery and equipment for the new fire-fighting units will be placed in the hills as soon as the roads are constructed.

One of the strongest arguments of these civic boosters, it was shown, is included in the new coast highway which runs directly through Laguna Beach and which is expected to have a very nourishing effect upon the growth of what was once known largely as a "village" but which now has taken on all the earmarks of a genuine city.

Endorse Bond Issue

LAGUNA BEACH, April 7.—The directors of the Chamber of Commerce have endorsed the proposed issuance of $1,500,000 in bonds to improve the harbor.

One of the strongest arguments of these civic boosters, it was shown, is included in the new coast highway which runs directly through Laguna Beach and which is expected to have a very nourishing effect upon the growth of what was once known largely as a "village" but which now has taken on all the earmarks of a genuine city.

Expect Bootleg War

SANTA BARBARA, April 7.—The "bootleg war" is on in earnest, and gentry of the illicit bottle, of this city and Santa Barbara, will soon settle their differences in the time-honored way, according to Police Chief Lester Desgrandchamp, who states that the rival factions are likely to throw the two cities into a "back-bush" warfare at any time.

A war among crooks is one of the hardest things for the police to ferret out, according to local officers. This point was proved some years ago when a taxi war in Chicago cost a number of lives, great damage to property and almost a tie-up of the city's business for several weeks.

Plan New Theatre

PASADENA, April 7.—Plans for a new theatre in the Lake avenue section of East Colorado street, which will cost in the neighborhood of $900,000, were announced last yesterday afternoon by Claude L. Langley, president of the Southwest Theaters, Inc., which controls the Egyptian, Raymond, Strand and Florence Theaters in this city.

Dunn Out of Race

MONROVIA, April 7.—Mayor Walter F. Dunn, head of the city since 1917, will not run again in the coming election, an announcement that has occasioned keen regret among the great majority of residents.

Mr. Dunn is almost a "native son of Monrovia." He has spent virtually his entire life here. He attended the local grade schools and is a graduate of the Monrovia High School. Following his graduation, Mr. Dunn entered college and took up the study of law. He has created one of the finest law practices in this section of the state and his legal activities and his connection with the local city government has brought him in contact with the leaders of Southern California, many of whom he rates as close personal friends.

Lodge Home Planned

ORANGE, April 7.—The I. O. O. F. is working out details for a $100,000 three-story lodge building to be constructed on the Odd Fellows' property at the corner of Chapman avenue and Orange street, it was learned here today.

A feature of the lodge quarters will be an elaborate ballroom and combination banquet hall with adjacent kitchen facilities. Thornton said special attention would be concentrated on the social arrangements, including the parlors.

Five Hurt In Motor Crash on Ridge Road

BAKERSFIELD, April 7.—Five people are in the hospital here as the result of a motor crash on the ridge route near Lebec Saturday. Driving a truck head on into a car coming from the opposite direction, William Cox, employee of the Cuddy ranch, was severely injured and the machine driven by Calvin Whittig of Glendale was wrecked. Mr. Whittig had minor contusions dressed at a hospital. A C. Twining and wife and daughter Peggy and William Cox of this city who were riding with Whittig, also were injured.

Co-operation in Community Progress Makes One a Part of the Community

It was Christ himself who said that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country. Some people are prone to believe that any person or anything that comes from a distance is better than the home product. Before the war many thought that German culture was superior to our own. Everything foreign was a little better than the American article. The war cured some of us, but there is still a lot of foreign propaganda in existence.

This is the same spirit that induces the belief that one can trade more advantageously outside of Glendale than with the home people. Distance lends a glamour to the out-of-town stores.

The great majority of Glendale people possess a spirit of community loyalty that impels them to overcome this tendency to trade out of town. Shrewd buyers, both men and women, have compared values in Glendale stores with those of out-of-town merchandise many times and have proved to their own satisfaction that the instances are rare when Glendale merchants cannot show as good values and give as good service as larger out-of-town stores. And then there is the matter of the convenience of shopping in Glendale and the saving of car fare or gasoline to be considered, also.

So those who really give thought to community and home problems spend their money in Glendale. It is a patriotic duty and a convenience. It is like casting your bread upon the waters, for it returns ten-fold in community benefits and community progress. It gives one a sense of being a part of the community that the man or woman who trades out of town can never feel. It makes you of Glendale not merely in it.

The advertisers on this page are endeavoring to bring this message of community loyalty home to every Glendalian. In the building of a Greater Glendale their part is to serve to the best of their ability. Your co-operation is all they ask.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TOPPY SNOWTAIL

There were two little donkey boys, once upon a time. Their names were Tipped and Toppo Snowtail and they lived not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Tippy and Toppo slept in a barn.

As I have told you, Tippy was so-called because he was always tipping things upside down. He tipped over a bottle of vinegar and spilled it in the eyes of the Boh Cat. You heard that story last night.

"But I don't tip things over, do I, mother?" brayed Toppo, who had a tail, snow white on the end, just as his brother had.

"No, you don't exactly tip things over, Toppo, my dear," answered Mrs. Snowtail, "but you have another trick which is almost as bad."

And Toppo had, I am sorry to say. His trick was this: He was a playful little chap, and loved to spin tops. He nearly always had a top in his pocket and every chance he got he would spin it.

But the funny thing about it was, that often, when Toppo threw his top down hard, to make it spin, the top would fly up and break a window, or hit some old animal gentleman on the nose or do something like that. Once Toppo's top flew into the water while his mother was washing the dishes and splashed her all over.

That's why this little donkey boy was called Toppo.

"Come on, Toppo," brayed his brother Tippy to him one morning, for donkey boys bray when they talk. "Come on, or you'll be late for school!"

"Wait until I find my top!" begged Toppo.

"No, I'm not going to wait—I don't want to be late!" said Tippy.

Toppo ran as fast as his feet would take him.

Then he ran on to the Hollow Stump Bungalow school, where Tippy looked all around the room for his top, and also the string by which to spin it.

"Hurry, Toppo!" begged his mother.

"All right! I have my top, and now I'll go!" and Toppo ran out of the stable house as fast as his feet would take him. Tippy wasn't in sight, having hurried down the path.

"I'll catch up to him all right," thought Toppo, and he hurried along, winding the string on his top in order to have it all ready to spin at the first chance.

Along the path, pitter patter, and pitter patter galloped Toppo, and just in front of him, after a while, he saw Uncle Wiggily hopping along.

"Oh, I guess I have plenty of time to get to school," thought Toppo. "Uncle Wiggily is going there to listen to us sing—the Lady Mouse said so yesterday. And if I get to school when Uncle Wiggily goes I'll be in plenty of time. I'm going to spin my top just once!"

"You see! I told you! Toppo was always eager to spin his top. So the little donkey boy took out his top, with the string wound around it, and just as he was behind Uncle Wiggily, Toppo threw his top hard on the ground—for so you must do to spin a top, you know.

And then—something happened!

Toppo's hoof slipped, the top struck a stone, bounced up and then the top hit Uncle Wiggily on his head.

"Oh-ee-ee-wee-ee-ee! Baked potatoes!" cried the bunny gentleman, twinkling his pink nose and putting his paw up to his head. "Oh! Who hit me?"

"Oh, I-I-er-now-I guess I did," stammered Toppo. "I did it with my little top!"

"Um! Yes! I guess you did,"

school, the Fox leaped out from the bushes.

"Ah, ha! Now I have you!" barked the Fox to Uncle Wiggily.

"Wait, wait," begged the bunny. "You must see Toppo spin his top before you take me off to your den. Spin your top for the Fox, Toppo!"

Toppo threw his top hard down on the ground. And just as Uncle Wiggily had hoped, the top flew over and banged the Fox on the end of his nose, making it bleed.

"Oh, boiled onions!" howled the Fox. "Oh, my nose is broken!" And away he ran, not hurting the bunny at all.

"Come on, now, Toppo!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You have spun your top enough for one day and very well you did it!"

Then the donkey boy and rabbit gentleman hurried into the Hollow Stump School just as the last bell was ringing and every one was happy except the Fox.

And if the ice pick doesn't try to climb the clothes tree to get a hat for the head of lettuce, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the rice pudding.

Seeress Slipped Up

Pretty Eugenie Dennis located missing boy in Los Angeles while he was in Pottsboro, N. J., all the time, and now the Foleys want their money back again.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Well, she'll have a lot to tell the folks out home, anyway.

In Ed Howe's home town, Atchison, Kansas, they used to think of Eugenie Dennis as "the wonder girl."

Somehow the newspapers heard about Eugenie just as soon as she got to town with her mother. They told how rosy her cheeks were and what red lips she had and what marvelous psychic powers she was supposed to possess. Without going into a trance, or using a little crystal ball, she could solve most any kind of puzzling problem—that's what somebody, but not Eugenie herself, told the reporters.

Eugenie even offered her services to the police. They weren't going to be any more mysteries. But the police didn't want to lose their jobs, and gracefully declined her help.

Pretty Miss Dennis doesn't remember anything about it, she says, but Mrs. Mary Foley, who read about the powers of the girl from out Potato Hill way, came to her for aid. Her son Bud was missing. She was greatly worried about it.

This was easy for Miss Dennis, who told the Foleys Bud not only was in Los Angeles, but was well cared for, in the Y. M. C. A., out there and was about to begin an enormously successful career on the stage.

All this would have been music to the ears of the Foleys had not Bud chosen just that time to return to the family embraces—from Pottsboro, N. J., instead of remote Los Angeles.

This made the Foleys happy, but they charged that Miss Dennis had received $25 for her divinations. Hence the troublesome times for the seeress of Potato Hill.

Magistrate Ryttenberg decided that she ought to be prosecuted under the law which forbids attempts to tell fortunes.

Frequently the question arises, has Dr. Cook "salted" any of his ill-fated gains?

Federal authorities, including Judge Killett, who pronounced the fourteen-year sentence on the explorer, declare that his future is amply provided for.

To such questions Dr. Cook remains impressively silent. He neither denies nor affirms the belief of postal experts who examined the books of his Petroleum Producers, association and reported many thousands unaccounted for. They have intimated belief that these vast sums would be at his disposal when he walks, or is carried, from his cell at the expiration of his sentence—for Dr. Cook is old.

He is nearing the three-score mark in life, and fourteen years of prison hardships loom yawningly ahead for this picturesque adventurer who bears the decorations of empires.

Will the strivings of a lifetime, one of the recognized medical achievements of the decade, be set at naught by that inexorable function—legality?

Scopolamin, or "truth serum,"

From Book Of Life

"RIGHT-THINKING"
"There are some men who are counted great because they represent the actuality of their own age, and mirror it as it is. Such a one was Voltaire, of whom it was epigrammatically said, 'he expressed everybody's thoughts better than anybody.' But there are other men who attain greatness because they embody the potentiality of their own day, and magically reflect the future. They express thoughts which will be everybody's three centuries after them. Such an one was Descartes."

Rene Descartes, the Frenchman about whom Thomas Huxley wrote in this fashion, died more than 300 years ago. He never contemplated anything higher than the reformation of his own opinions, and basing them on a foundation wholly his own.

"The single design to strip one's self of all past beliefs is one that ought not to be taken by every one," he decided. "The majority of men is composed of two classes, for neither of which this would be at all a bett'ing resolution. In the first place, of those who with more than a due confidence in their own powers, are precipitate in their judgments and want the patience requisite for orderly and circumspect thinking; whence it happens, that if men of this class once take the liberty to doubt of their accustomed opinions, and quit the beaten highway, they will never be able to tread the byway that would lead them by a shorter course, and will lose themselves and continue to wander for life; in the second place, of those who, possessed of sufficient sense of modesty to determine that there were others who excel them in the power of discriminating between truth and error, and by whom they may be instructed, ought rather to content themselves with the opinions of such than trust for more correctness to their own reason."

It is not customary to pull down all of the houses of a town with the single design of rebuilding them differently, and thereby render the streets more handsome; but it often happens that a private individual takes down his own with the view of erecting it anew.

With this before him by way of example, Descartes was persuaded that it would indeed be preposterous for a private individual to think of reforming a state by fundamentally changing it through-out, and overturning it in order to set it up amended; and the same he thought was true of any similar project for reforming the body of the sciences, or the order of teaching them established in the schools; but as for the opinions which up to that time he had embraced, he thought he could not do better than resolve at once to sweep them wholly away, that he might afterwards be in a position to admit either others more correct or even perhaps the same when they had undergone the scrutiny of reason.

"I firmly believed that in this way I should much better succeed in the conduct of my life, than if I built upon old foundations, and leant upon my principles which, in my youth, I had taken upon trust."

Descartes recognized various difficulties in this undertaking, but he knew they were not without remedy, nor once to be compared with such as attend the slightest reformation in public affairs.

"Large bodies, if once overturned, are with great difficulty set up again, or even kept erect when seriously shaken, and the fall of such is always disastrous. Then if there are any imperfections in the constitutions of states (and that many such exist the di-

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

For International News Service.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 7.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, noteworthy for his failure to discover the North Pole, more recently convicted of a million-dollar oil swindle, has, for the first time in almost six months, been permitted to inhale the copious air of the law-abiding citizen.

Ashen of countenance, sunken of cheek, and his long, gray hair straggling somewhat unsightly about his ears, this former idol of kings walked from his cell at the county jail into the atmosphere of free men—but he shuffled along to the exasperating jingle of glittering handcuffs and the accompanying tread of an unsympathetic federal officer.

He was escorted to the offices of a dentist, where several bothersome molars were extracted.

While his score of colleagues have all forsaken their guiding star, and piloted them so miserably through several months of staggering riches, Dr. Cook still clings to the belief that his appeal to a higher tribunal will bring victory—and eventual freedom.

His companions who so nobly elected to "stand by him" at the hour of his incarceration have all thought better of it, and set out for Fort Leavenworth to do their bit.

Undergo the test, shall that qualify his guilt?

Dr. House realizes it would be difficult to convict under such circumstances, and thus his brainchild, regardless of whether the injection is made voluntarily by the prisoner or through some trickery, will invariably result in endless litigation—unless protected by law.

There is a goal of $25,000 for the farmers of East Texas to strive for in the 1924 tilling of their land, and it goes to those who produce the best yields on any five acres of cotton, any three acres of corn, or any two acres of peanuts during the ensuing season.

For several years farmers in the Tyler trade territory have found added inducement for greater production in the reward offerings of Tyler merchants.

Approximately 400 farmers compete annually for these prizes, and the vast increase in production throughout the territory in these three commodities during recent years is attributed directly to this ever-existent competitive spirit.

C. M. Adams, planter, accomplished an unparalleled record in 1923, when his five select acres yielded eight bales of cotton. The achievement, to the untitled, may be made more cognizant with the knowledge that half a bale to an acre, and frequently but a quarter of a bale, is considered average production.

THE GLENDALE

Reginald Barker's new production, "Women Who Give," featuring Barbara Stanwyck, Frank Keenan, Rene Adoree, Joseph Dowling and Margaret Seddon, is the Metro feature now showing at the Glendale theatre, a picture of thrills and heart throbs.

Sarah P. McLean Greene's story of seafaring men and the women who await the return of their loved ones with the fishing fleets, is a classic, and it is even more absorbing and interesting on the screen than it was as a play and book. Incidentally, it is the sort of photo-drama that holds interest for everyone, man, woman and child.

With the rugged New England coast as a background Reginald Barker has produced a motion picture that fairly tingles with romance, drama and thrills.

he might afterwards be in a position to admit either others more correct or even perhaps the same when they had undergone the scrutiny of reason.

THE GATEWAY

Richard Barthelmess in "Twenty-One" is the First National feature now showing at the Glendale theatre, a John S. Robinson picture, wherein the star plays the role of a youthful taxi driver who has run away from home because of parental objection to the girl of his heart, a factory lassie.

In the part of Julian McCullough, the rich man's son, Barthelmess proves that he is a versatile star, one who can jump from character roles to modern parts and back again with great ease.

Dorothy Mackall again adds to her laurels in the part of a working girl. The settings, it is said, were taken at the famous Westchester-Biltmore Country club at Rye, N. Y., the rendezvous of millionaire New Yorkers, and at the famous estate of Samuel Untermyer, "Greystone."

iversity of constitutions is alone sufficient to assure us, custom has without doubt materially smoothed their inconveniences and has even managed to steer altogether clear of, or insensibly corrected a number which sagacity could not have provided against with equal effect; and, in fine, the defects are almost always more tolerable than the change necessary for their removal; in the same manner that highways which wind among mountains, by being much frequented, become gradually so smooth and commodious that it is much better to follow them than to seek a straight path by climbing over the tops of rocks and descending to the bottoms of precipices."

As we have said, Descartes never contemplated anything higher than the reformation of his own opinion. To these we will give attention here later.

THE HOARY HEAD IS A CROWN OF GLORY

"The hoary head is a crown of glory. It shall be found in the way of righteousness." Proverbs 16:31.

Solomon who is reputed to have been the wisest man that ever lived, said this. The dictates of fashion are agreeing with him now, and grey hair is quite the mode. It is no longer fashionable to dye the hair; and, as a result, we are now seeing more strikingly handsome men and women—because there is no doubt that grey hair, especially when it is grey to the stage of whiteness, does give an air of distinction and does improve and soften the features. I have seen so many beautiful grey and white-haired women at different functions here in New York, that I am inclined to suspect some of them must even be doing a little bleaching!

There have been many reports of poisonings produced by hair dyes in the medical literature and daily press, and some suits for damages against hair dye manufacturers have also been reported, so it is now pretty universally known that most hair dyes are not without danger. No doubt this fact has much to do with the present fashionable grey hair.

If you have been using a hair dye and have had a lot of obscure symptoms—nervousness, gastrointestinal, dizziness, insomnia, rapid pulse, trouble with your eyes, inflammation of the skin, etc., which you cannot attribute to other causes, it is possible you are absorbing some poisons from the hair dye. Most hair dyes (with the exception of those that are made from vegetable products, such as extract of nut gall, oak or hemlock bark, black walnut, sage, etc.), are made from coal tar products, silver nitrate, lead and other minerals. All of these may be absorbed by the skin as well as by the hair, and chronic poisoning may result.

To the superficial observers, and those who do not realize how many people are prematurely grey, grey hair does give the impression of greater age. I realize that in some economic situations—in applying for work, etc.—dyeing the hair may be a justifiable procedure. In those cases my advice would be to get the job, make good on it and then gradually stop using the dye. Then your employer can think your mental efforts in his behalf have brought on your grey hair. Prolonged mental strain is thought to

Awaits Stork In Jail

Mrs. Christine Haney, charged with bank robbery, fears prison stigma that will rest on her baby if freedom should be delayed too long, as she pines in her cell and sees her girlish beauty fade.

WICHITA, Kan., April 4.—Christine Haney, in the first full beautiful flush of womanhood, has been in the Crowley county jail for three months, accused of bank robbery.

In her first trial the jury disagreed, and she must wait until November for another hearing, eight long months.

Her bail is so high she cannot possibly raise it.

Before November, her friends say, she will become a mother. If Christine Haney is found not guilty of the charge, how can justice ever make up to her the loss of her life, her faded beauty, the stigma that will be attached to her child because a jail was its birthplace?

Christine is only 19, and her pale, girlish beauty is rapidly fading in the close confinement.

Christine's husband, Bill, is accused of being the brains back of the robbery of the Rock, Kansas, state bank. Mrs. Haney and Oscar Rhodes were arrested, not far from the scene of the robbery. Haney wasn't arrested until a few days ago. Rhodes, when brought to trial, admitted having a hand in the robbery.

Then the girl was tried. She pleaded her innocence and courtroom spectators thought she would be freed by the jury of 12 men.

But after the three hours' deliberation, the judge discharged the jury and her hopes for acquittal died.

When Christine met Bill Haney in her home town of Peoria, Ill., she was carried away immediately by his romantic ardor. Her mother recited the old adage, "Wed in haste, repent in leisure," without avail. Within a few days Christine was Bill's wife, and speeding with him to a new home in Pawhuska, Okla.

Now she's wishing she had heeded her mother's words.

The fading girl thinks of but one thing now—her mother. She doesn't want mama to know of her present trouble. When she is freed—for she feels confident she will be—she is going to get a divorce and return to her mother's home.

But each day of confinement leaves its tell-tale mark. Her beauty is fading, as her cheeks no longer carry the tinge of perfect health, being sunken slightly, and circles are beginning to form around her eyes. But she hopes she will be released before her health is completely gone or baby comes.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

YOUR MOUTH

The one feature in the face that reveals character more than any other is the mouth, and it is the one feature about which practically nothing can be done, that is, in an external physical way. You are what your mouth says you are: petty, avaricious, generous, sympathetic, sensual, bad tempered.

You can change your mouth by changing your character. If you do not believe that this is possible make a study of mouths. Notice how different their expression will be according to the mood of the moment. In half an hour you can see a mouth become soft and sweet, or brutally ugly and cruel, according as the conversation changes and various sides of character come out. This Chat, however, is not to be a sermon, I merely want to point out that you cannot have an ugly disposition and a pretty mouth. You can be a double-dyed villain in a great many respects and your face will not show it, but your mouth always will, to those having intelligence enough to read character from the expression.

There are many people, however, who have developed unfortunate little facial tricks which give a totally false expression to the mouth. Some people bite the lips, which, after some years, is bound to make them thick and ugly. Some people have a habit of drawing the lips in, which seems to sink the mouth back into the face. Some people have a habit of pushing the lips forward which quite ruins the expression of the face. Watch yourself in the mirror and see whether you possess these or other unfortunate little tricks.

Bad adenoids and tonsils, by causing improper breathing, change the entire expression of the mouth and jaw, and give a curiously stupid look to the face. In fact, if the tonsils and adenoids are very bad with a child it can actually change the shape of the face and do life-long damage. When some of our public schools and health centers began insisting on operations for this difficulty they found by taking photographs then and a year later that the shape of the face had actually changed for the better when the trouble was cured.

A. W.:—If your red nose comes from digestive disturbance or from skin trouble you should consult the doctor. Tight clothing that interferes with circulation will often cause a red nose.

Blonde:—I do not think that powder caused the pimples. Such a condition is usually traceable to the blood through digestive troubles or other imperfect functioning of the system.

Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mrs. Cecil Frankel is first vice-president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, honorary president of the Los Angeles Music Federation and founder of the California Federation of Music Clubs. She is one of the most ardent and indefatigable workers for music development in the United States and is endeavoring to make her home city—Los Angeles—the music center of the west.

Mrs. Frankel is also an exponent of music in industry, maintaining that it will not only make industrial workers themselves happier but will enable them to do a better job for their employers. In a recent speech before the Portland, Ore., Chamber of Commerce, she said: "Commerce has built its pillars to endure but their capitals need music for decoration."

The now famous Hollywood community sing had Mrs. Frankel for its founder and now numbers 300 or more voices. She urges a music club for every city and hamlet in the United States, with auxiliary clubs for boys and girls.

Mrs. Horatio N. Slater, of Boston, has invented a snow plow and snow remover that has enlisted the attention of the government. She has offered her invention to Mayor Curley of Boston and it will probably be given tests.

In the United States patent office women are listed as being the inventors of thousands of articles ranging all the way from hair pins, pin holders and darning lasts to automatic pistols, incendiary balls and rear sights for guns. In the factory they have lightened the labors of fifty major industries and are concerned with the basic processes of highly technical industries such as chemical manufacture and construction of power machinery.

On registration day at the university comes about naturally and it is not necessary for the girl to make an effort.

Savory Tomato Sauce for Cold Meats: Put into a saucepan two cups of tomatoes, two whole cloves, three peppercorns, a tiny bit of bay leaf, a sprig of parsley and one-half teaspoon of salt; let these ingredients boil together for ten minutes, then strain. Now put into another saucepan two tablespoons of butter and when this melts rub into it two tablespoons of flour, stirring till smooth; now add the strained tomato, beating to avoid thickening unevenly and let boil for one minute. Turn it over cold, sliced cooked beef or lamb.

Jelly-Rice Omelet: Beat three eggs well without separating, then add to them one cup of cold, cooked rice. Also add two tablespoons of milk, and a pinch of salt. Now put into a frying pan one tablespoon of butter and when melted, pour the egg mixture upon it. As it cooks, lift it carefully from one side to allow the uncooked part to run under. When all is creamy spread with four tablespoons of currant jelly, fold one-half of omelet over the other half, and serve it off onto a hot platter. Serve at once.

Mexican Beans: Soak one and one-half cups of dried kidney beans overnight in water to cover well, and in the morning drain, rinse and cover again with cold water; add one-fourth teaspoon of soda and bring to boiling point. Now drain and rinse again. Put into a frying pan one-half cup of diced uncooked salt pork and fry till crisp, adding four tablespoons of each of minced raw onion and chopped green sweet peppers; when these vegetables are slightly cooked, add the beans, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, one teaspoon of salt and hot water to cover, then simmer for three hours. At the end of this period of cooking also add one cupful of either canned or freshly-stewed tomatoes. Serve very hot.

Liver, Country Style: Put into a frying pan two tablespoons of beef drippings and when melted add one large sliced onion and two cups of diced celery; let cook for a few minutes, transfer these ingredients to a baking pan and then put in two pounds of beef liver which you have dredged slightly but not diced; lay five slices of uncooked bacon over the top of the liver, and add one-half cup of hot water to the pan, season with one-half teaspoon of salt, cover, and slip into a moderate oven to bake for two hours. Then remove lid, add one-half cup of tomatoes, and continue to bake till the tomatoes are well cooked. Leave off cover so as to brown the bacon. Serve hot.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

I wonder if there are not a great many mothers who feel as does one who signs herself "A WORRIED MOTHER." She writes me:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of six, ranging from a boy of fifteen to a baby girl of two.

Have been married nearly eighteen years and my John and I are pretty well broken. As to family troubles, I'm sure we've never had any serious ones.

But as the children are growing older I plainly see many anxious hours and misunderstandings ahead. We live in a rural community where the custom is for all parents to stay at home and let the children, or young people, rather, do all the going.

The boys start making dates at the age of thirteen and the girls at eleven.

Do tell me, Mrs. Thompson, and whoever may read my letter, is that the custom throughout the country?

We are so we cannot take the smaller children out much, so I often go with my two boys and little girl, my husband staying at home with the other children. I am censured for this, but do not feel it is right.

I don't want my children to have dates at such tender ages.

A TIRED MOTHER.

Even in this age of doing everything so young, your community seems to be rushing things a bit. But never mind the criticisms. Keep doing as you have been. Of course your children are too young for "dates" or even to be going out much. Try to keep them happy and their minds on their studies, and don't even take "them to many places."

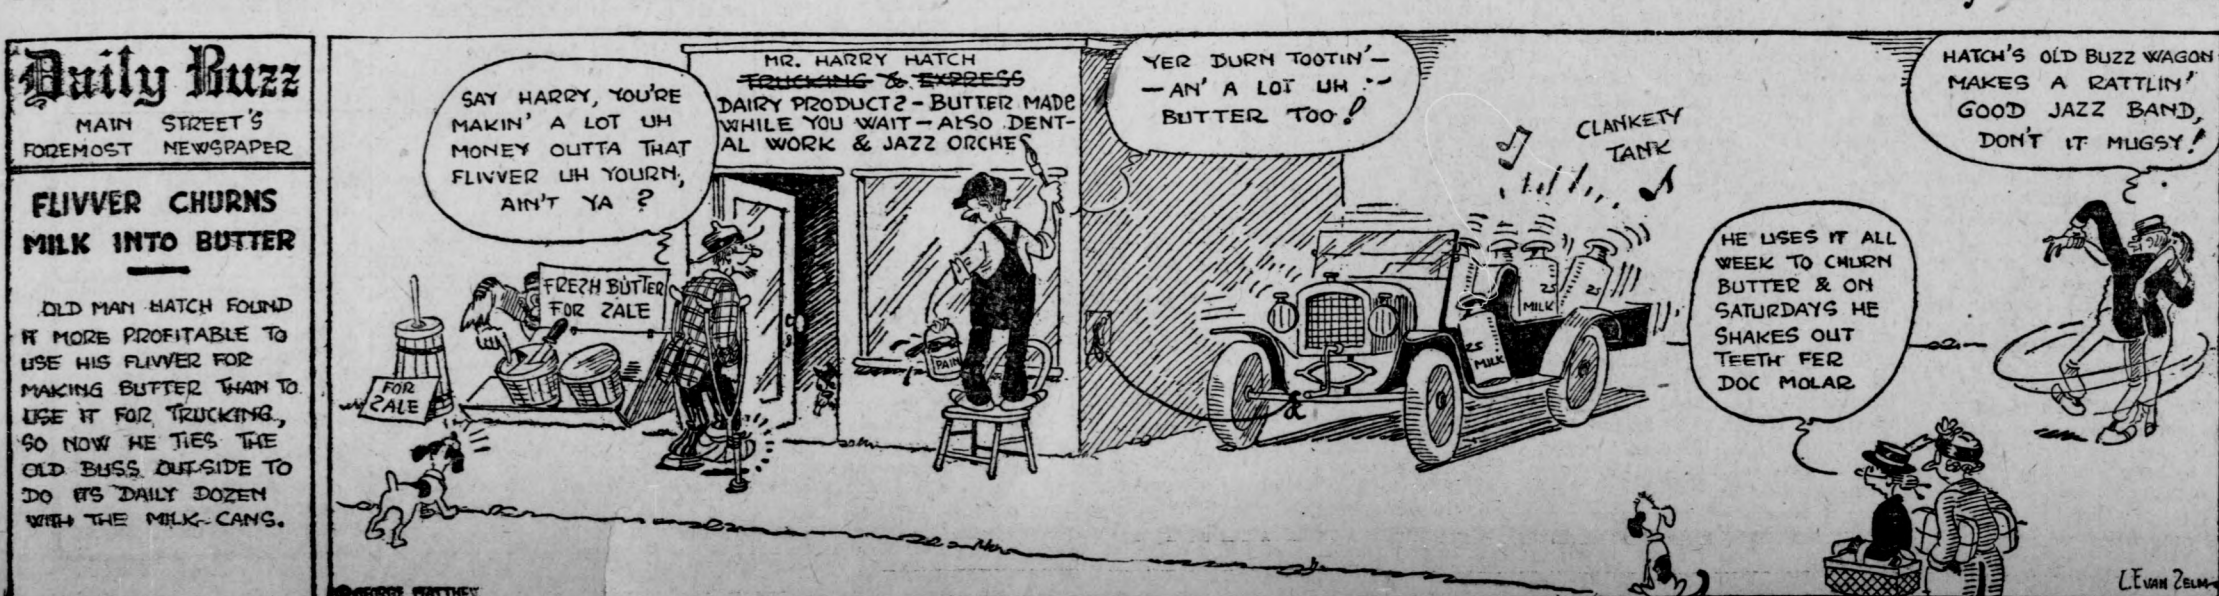

QUERIES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a girl meets a younger man on the street, who should go on the outside? When a girl meets a young man, who should speak first? When a young man brings a girl from a party or from church, should the girl ask the young man in the house if he didn't take her? How could a girl attract a young man's attention?

IGNORANCE.

The young man should go on the outside. The girl should speak first. If it is not late, it is only hospitable for the girl to invite the young man to come in. It is not necessary to try to attract a young man's attention. Such a

WEATHER FORECASTS FROM SPRING TO HEAVY RAINFALL

Glendale Gets .91 Inch When Thunder Storm Breaks Over City Sunday

A variety of weather was experienced in Glendale and vicinity yesterday. Following gray threatening clouds in the early morning the sun came out brightly and Glendaleans enjoyed real warm, spring weather until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when lightning and thunder heralded a heavy rainfall, which recorded .91 of an inch, according to H. E. Barrett, 233 West Broadway.

This brings the season's total up to 7.91 inches, which is fast approaching the record at the same time last year, 10.86.

By Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, April 7.—Farmers are no longer looking to the heavens and trying to plow up to the withering crops.

After the last night's precipitation the Southland is no longer officially having the driest year since rainfall records started in 1882. The season's rainfall in Los Angeles up to 6 a. m. this morning was boosted up to 6.66 inches. Thunder and lightning accompanied by heavy rains brought .43 of an inch of rain up to 6 a. m.

This time last year the season's figures were 8.58. While this will not be the driest year, the weather man stated that the South will not equal last year's figures.

The showers started to fall in the late afternoon, and increased with the dusk, accompanied by lightning and thunder. The barometer at the weather bureau was in the most unsettled condition last night. It kept jumping up and down, and made accurate survey of weather conditions almost impossible.

The weather man said today that with light showers during the next 24 hours, the Southland will see the end of the rainfall.

At Glendale some streets were flooded, making it impossible for motorists to make any headway. Many cars were stalled in the mud, and some were stuck on the streets. Up to 7 o'clock last night, .80 of an inch of rain fell.

San Diego received a trace of rain. Only .06 of an inch fell up to 6 o'clock this morning.

The severest rain was at Fullerton, where 1.22 inches of rainfall was recorded. A freak storm hit Orange, featured by thunder and lightning.

Police at the Los Angeles harbor last night reported that a great many cars were stalled on the muddy roads across the Palms Verdes hills between the harbor and Redondo Beach, due to the heavy rainfall.

Following is the rainfall in inches reported up to 6 o'clock this morning:

City	hours	Sea-	Last
Los Angeles	48	5.9	8.58
San Pedro	33	5.90	9.24

SITUATION TENSE IN MINE REGION

Militia Patrol District as Work Is Resumed In Kentucky Camp

PINEVILLE, Ky., April 7.—With two companies of national guardsmen patrolling the vicinity and General Manager R. R. Atkins declaring "there is no occasion for arbitration," an air of tensely prevailed today at the re-opening of the Liberty Coal and Coke company's mine in the Cumberland mountains four miles from here.

Work in the mine has been suspended since the outbreak last Thursday during which one man was killed and another seriously wounded. Mine officials announced work will resume under the 1917 wage scale while the miners insist upon a renewal of their schedule of 1920.

Welfare Worker Will Check Vice Reports

HEAT REGULATOR. BOON FOR HOME

Recent Invention Permits Oven Gas Control In Cooking Ranges

For years and years there have been heat controls for all sorts of mechanical purposes. The melting of gold and silver has to be done at a definite temperature; automobile fenders and parts have to be baked at exactly the right temperature, and if too high heat is used the fenders peel, if too low they do not wear.

Many years ago a firm in Youngwood, Pa., by the name of Robertshaw invented a device for controlling the heat used for mechanical purposes. They made a heat control for metal melting, for japanning, for annealing and die casting. Later they made a heat control for bakery ovens.
These cost $500 each and were unthought of for use on the household gas range.

In 1907 Robertshaw patented the now famous Robertshaw oven heat control for gas ranges, the first oven heat control made. It has been in successful use ever since and is made in a shop manufacturing nothing but thermostats of one kind or another. Ten years later, in August, 1917, the Lorain heat control was patented.
Since then several other heat controls have been patented, but none have equalled the Robert-shaw for simplicity or accuracy.

Robertshaw oven heat controls are used by forty-seven different manufacturers of ranges, twenty water heaters use their thermostat and hundreds of industrial concerns.

Simple in Operation

Oven heat control is not an intricate subject. The thermostat corresponds to the old thermometer on the oven door. The thermometer only tells the temperature within, while the heat regulator not only tells the heat but controls it, keeping it at exactly the temperature desired. The Robertshaw regulator is simplicity itself. The copper bar expands with heat, opening and shutting the valve automatically to maintain the proper temperature. There are very few parts to the control, in fact nothing to get out of order. The action of the Robertshaw is positive, while other regulators depend upon an intricate leverage system. Robertshaw oven heat controllers are tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn said:
"Oven heat control is the key that opens the door of successful baking." No man would dream of operating an industrial plant where a definite heat was required without the use of a mechanical heat controller. No woman should be obliged to guess at the proper temperature for her baking oven.

Shore Line Limited Sideswipes Freight

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—Two freight cars were derailed late last night when the Southern Pacific Shore Line limited sideswiped a train on a siding. All emergency equipment for medical aid was rushed to the scene, but no one was injured, police reported today.

Aluminum is said to distribute heat more evenly in baking than any other metal.

ENMITY OF MAN TO TRUTH, THEME

Christ's Challenge to Foes Never Accepted, Says
Rev. H. O. Kringle

The natural aversion of mankind to the truth was the theme of the sermon delivered by Rev.
Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran congregation yesterday morning. He took as his text: "The Great Enmity of the Natural Heart Against God." He said in part:

"Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?" In these words Christ not only draws the correct conclusion that, whoever is without sin, must also be without deception, but He also thereby challenges the people to convince him of a single sin, and thus to justify their refusal to accept the truth.

No Sign of Wrong

"The challenge was sweeping, but it was never accepted. His enemies hated Him, they watched Him closely, they searched him investigating His miracles, they curiously tempted Him; but they could never successfully charge Him with a single wrong. No Pharisee, however strict; no scribe, however learned; no high priest, however unscrupulous, has succeeded in proving against Christ a single transgression. On the contrary, the worst enemies, Judas, Herod, Pilate and many of the people have borne witness to his moral perfection. Christ, therefore, did what none that has ever lived in this world, has ever been able to do. He stepped before the world and on the record of His perfect and holy life, demanded that His word be accepted as the truth."

"Yet, what answer did He get?
'Say we not well that Thou art a Samaritan and hast a devil?'
These people therefore denied that His word was the truth. They rejected it. The people only reveal what others try to conceal, but what must be charged to every natural, unchanged heart, unless that heart openly acknowledges that Christ's word is the truth, and rejects it, nevertheless—and that is even worse. Before the deluge God declared,
'And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was evil continually.' Isaiah declares, 'All we like sheep, have gone astray; we have turned every one unto his own way.'
That made our salvation necessary.

Christ's Promise

"The aversion of mankind to the truth is perhaps as evident in history as it is from these passages in the Bible. But Christ says, 'Verily, verily, I say unto you, if a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.' They

Founding of Kingdom Is Livingston's Topic

Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of Casa Verdugo Methodist church, addressed his congregation at both morning and evening service on Sunday. The subject chosen for the morning service was "The Founding of the Kingdom," and the sermon was based on the Beatitudes. Special music numbers were an anthem, "Ye that Stand in the House" (Spinnery) by the choir, and a soprano and alto duet, "Sometime, Somewhere," sung by Mrs. R. D. Jones and Miss Beatrice Sasse. The subject of the sermon at the evening service was "Our Citizenship." vide for a crew of eight to last two years.

As unusual and unique as the voyage is, it will also be one of great importance, for Captain Noice and his wife expect to record Eskimo life as it really is.

Discussing the Eskimos, Harold Noice has this to say:
"They cling closer to the Stone Age than any other race, but their numbers are decreasing and as the hand of civilization reaches out toward them their life slowly begins to change. This is a last chance to reproduce the old life and record the primitive existence of a strange race. It has been said that in one sense the Eskimos have no history, but I have faith in their tradition."

"It is largely with a view of recording their history, of collecting relics of their past, that we set forth on this expedition. Already the influence of so-called civilization has reached toward them. Trappers of the Hudson Bay company are beginning to invade this territory, and soon the Canadian Mounted Police and white settlers will appear, and gradually the Eskimo race will disappear, like that of the American Indian. Much of their past is lost in obscurity, and it is the mystery of this we hope to solve."

were to believe on Him as the Son of God and Savior of the world.
He promises, them that if they believe they shall never see death. As it is stated in the New Testament. There is no difference; for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God, being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus; whom God hath set forth to be a propiti-

MORTICIANS ADD NEW AMBULANCE

Kiefer & Eyerick Purchase
$5,750 Invalid Coach for Patients

The latest addition to the equipment of Kiefer & Eyerick, Glendale morticians, a late model invalid car and ambulance, is now in service and giving perfect satisfaction, according to a statement made by Mr. Eyerick this morning.

The ambulance, a product of the Riddle factory at Ravenna, Ohio, is the last word in its line,
and one of the finest coaches in southern California. It is equipped with a seventy-two horse-power Continental Red Seal motor, capable of developing great speed if the occasion demands.

The color combination is maroon and white. The fenders are maroon, the belt line white and the top maroon. It forms a most striking combination. The inside of the car is finished in mahogany and upholstered in genuine leather. The floor is covered with a mahair carpet. The sides are of leaded glass.

Double Entrance
A new innovation incorporated in the car is the double entrance idea. Accident cases or invalids may be put in the car through the back or on either side, which does away with a disagreeable feature of many of the old style ambulances.

It is equipped with a Baumgartner wheel truck, first aid cabinet and other appliances looking to the comfort and safety of the occupants. The car, carrying Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, rides like a Pullman coach, says Mr. Eyerick.

Among the accessories on the car are siren and bell, as on police ambulances, in addition to a loud sounding horn. The driver's compartment, partitioned off from the main body of the car, is finished in gray leather.

Car Cost $5,750
"The cost of the car was $5,750," said Mr. Eyerick this morning, "but we wanted the last thing in ambulances, and we believe that we have got it. We are now ready to answer calls at any time. It will not interfere with our funeral service as we will not use the new car as a hearse. It is strictly an ambulance or invalid car."

The addition of this fine ambulance gives the local firm equipment that will rank well with that owned by any undertaking establishment in Los Angeles county. A short time ago they installed a pipe organ in their chapel at great expense for use in chapel services.

to declare His righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God."

SHIPMENTS SHOW PROSPERITY FOR WESTERN STATES

Southern Pacific Records Show Increase Over 1923 Loadings

Prosperity of Pacific coast states is indicated by the fact that more cars of freight have been loaded on the Pacific system of Southern Pacific company during January and February than during the same months of 1923. Last year's Southern Pacific's car loadings were greater than in any previous year. In January, this year, 71,264 cars were loaded and 74,005 in February as compared with 64,461 cars in January 1923, and 62,678 in February, 1923.

Although last year's record-breaking traffic was handled by Southern Pacific with an efficiency that bettered the company's previous records, the operating performance so far this year has been even better. J. H.
Dyer, general manager for the company, said today.

Adopt New Slogan
The number of cars and locomotives under repair has been reduced for the January-February period as compared with the number for the same period of 1923. Thus a greater amount of equipment has been available for the public service.

The average miles each freight car was moved per day were less than during the same period of 1923 but this was because a greater number of refrigerator cars had been returned from the east and placed in storage, these idle cars reducing the general average daily mileage.

A greater tonnage per train has been hauled so far this year than last and each locomotive has been made to haul a heavier load.

LECTURER TELLS OF PERUVIAN ART

Influence of Early Incas on Country's Development Shown in Pictures

Art and Architecture of the land of the Incas was the subject of an illustrated talk by George C. Cooper of Los Angeles before the Glendale Art Association at a meeting Sunday afternoon at the public library. Mr. Cooper is a world traveler who spent four years in Lima, Peru, where he had many interesting experiences as an amateur archaeologist, and speaks from his personal observation, of the evidences that still exist of the early history of that country, of which so little is known, until the date of the invasion of the Spaniard.

His illustrative slides were of remarkable interest, picturing in detail the curious stone carving of the ancient race; walls of solid rock that have stood for two thousand years; cities built of lava rock, magnificent cathedrals with altars covered with gold and silver and set with precious stones; Indian markets on rafts;
the eternally snow capped mountains; the world famous railroad crossing the heights of the Andes; picturesque plazas, relics of the days before the Spaniard came;
the more modern architecture, that followed the conquest by Spain; views of the interior of the palace of the president of the republic; translation of the "Ura Cocha," a quaint religious song; and many others equally interesting.

The speaker told of excavating in ancient burial grounds, and displayed pictures of Peruvian mummies, which he had discovered.

Legation Helped
Through the American legation
Mr. Cooper had the entire to a large circle of the best homes of the cities and gave many interesting side lights on the pleasures of his sojourn in the country.

A rising vote of thanks was given the speaker by those in attendance who felt more than repaid for venturing out during the rain. Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the Art Association, presided at the meeting, and introduced the speaker. She announced that the club would have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Du-Kruif, of Los Angeles, noted painter of water colors, at the next meeting, and called attention to those present to the exhibit of pictures now hung at the Tuesday Afternoon club, all of which, with the exception of two, are prize pictures.

One man fills the cuts in his old golf balls with rubber cement, and after painting them white claims they are as good as new.
